ATLANTA BANDITS BELIEVED CAUGHT BY TEXAS POLICE

With the arrest of two men and two women in San Antonio, Texas, Atlanta police believe that at least two holdups here during the Christmas holidays will be cleared up.

Those arrested in the Texas city are being held on charges involving a filling station robbery. Atlanta officials received a message today advising that Charles L. Reid, Ben S. Smith and two girls, Iris Westbrook and Mabel Lindsay, had been arrested and police were said to have found several pawn tickets of Atlanta among their possessions. Among articles said to have been found on them was a railroad pass issued to C. S. Joseph, of Atlanta, who was robbed Christmas day of $25, a traveling bag, and a pocket-book containing the pass. Police also believe the men are the same who robbed C. K. Victory, of 1140 Peachtree street, of a $15 check and a watch on December 27. An attempt to cash the check in Rome, Ga., was unsuccessful.

Fight on Kellogg Treaty Is Near End In Senate As Compromise Is Drafted

Sole Dispute Appears To Revolve Around Necessity of Further Safeguarding U. S. Rights.

Washington, January 7.—(AP)—Early ratification of the Kellogg anti-war treaty appeared as a possibility tonight after a day of conferences had brought an agreement nearer on the sole dispute in the treaty discussion—whether an interpretation of America's rights under the pact is necessary.

The negotiations had reached such a stage late today that Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, author of the interpretative resolution which has been opposed by President Coolidge, announced in the senate that an understanding by tomorrow seemed likely.

Agreement Under Way.

The tentative agreement calls for a report by the foreign relations committee stating its interpretation of American rights under the treaty and the transmission of this report to the other powers.

Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, outstanding opponent of the pact, and others fighting for the interpretative resolution, are ready to accept this proposition, which would place before all the other signatory nations the views of the senate foreign affairs leaders on the treaty.

Chairman Borah, of the committee, who is leading the fight for the pact, insisted tonight that the proposed agreement is "by no means certain yet." The sentiment of other administration leaders is awaited before a definite decision on the undertaking can be announced.

There were definite indications from other treaty proponents, including some of the democratic spokesmen, that such a proposal would not be opposed by them. The democrats generally have sided with Chairman Borah in his fight for ratification of the treaty without reservation or an accompanying resolution.

Terms of Agreement.

Under the terms of the present understanding, the committee's interpretative report would be placed before the senate and referred to the state department with the request that it be sent to the other powers along with notification to them of American adherence to the pact.

The report would state that this country does not consider that the treaty infringes upon the right of America to defend herself or territories or embassies in any way her rights under the Monroe doctrine; nor that it involves this government in any obligation to enforce the treaty.

All these views have been expressed by Borah in senate debate. The report would merely constitute a record of these pronouncements.

Should the agreement be finally entered into by Senator Borah and other treaty proponents an immediate vote on the treaty is believed possible. The debate has reached the stage where only Senator Reed, of the opposition, remains on the list of those desiring to speak. It is possible he may not speak at all if the understanding is consummated.

While the cloak room negotiations were proceeding today debate on the treaty was held off until a late hour.

Senator Bruce, democrat, Maryland, took the floor to pronounce his benediction on the pact with some misgivings as to its potency.

JUDGE THOMAS URGES DOUBLED POLICE FORCE

The declaration that the police force of Atlanta should be doubled as the best financial investment, the city could make, featured the charge Judge E. D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court, made to the new grand jury on Monday.

Judge Thomas said that criminals naturally gravitate to the inadequately policed community, and that depredations from burglary, robbery and thievery are far more costly than an adequate police force. He pointed to the greater personal security the citizens enjoy and the reduced opportunity for criminals to contaminate the morals and undo the training children receive in their homes as among the reasons for the proper policing of the city.

Shocks, he said, that youthful criminals are increasing and that the courts are crowded with cases involving boys and girls. Judge Thomas said that violations of the prohibition law are at the bottom of 75 per cent of the divorce cases, and are responsible for almost 100 per cent of all criminal cases.

George J. Yundt was chosen as foreman of the new grand jury. The members of the grand jury are: C. F. Hunter, A. F. Winecoff, J. B. Zachary, C. O. Alexander, R. M. Gann, C. J. Kamper, J. W. McGarity, W. H. Brittain, L. J. Daniel, Hal F. Hentz, W. H. Letton, George P. Street, A. E. Bancker, William L. McCollie, Jr., R. A. Gordon, R. W. Courts, Oscar Palmour, W. S. McKennie, A. J. McCoy, W. Ches Smith, H. F. Garrett and H. L. Singer.

Close Watch Set For Mysterious Hospital Invader

After having reappeared three times since Sunday, the mysterious individual thought to be a maniac, who Saturday night invaded the room of George Stallings, "Miracle Man" of baseball, and stole his pocketbook at a local private hospital, was the object of closest search Monday night.

The man was seen around the hospital late Saturday afternoon and early Sunday night, when he robbed the Stallings room. He reappeared twice Sunday. In addition, he was seen at the hospital again about midnight Sunday, when he stole some charts. Nurses chased him away from the hospital when he invaded the sanitarium again about 2 o'clock.

He again was seen at the hospital at 6 o'clock Monday night when he entered the nurses' home, pulled a mattress off a bed and disappeared as suddenly as he had come. Hospital authorities were of the opinion that the man is a maniac.

After visiting hours Monday night, the doors of the hospital were closed to prevent further entrance of the intruder and every effort will be made to catch him, it was said.

$100,000 IN BONDS OF H. M. BLACKMER LEVIED BY U. S.

Washington, January 7.—(AP)—A second levy of $100,000 on bonds belonging to Harry M. Blackmer, missing Teapot Dome witness, was made today by United States Marshal Edgar C. Snyder acting under a District of Columbia supreme court decision holding Blackmer in contempt for his refusal to testify.

The bonds were taken from those deposited by counsel for Blackmer when the court ordered the first seizure some months ago under the Wales act, which permits application of the penalty to persons refusing to testify here in criminal trials. Blackmer, former president of the Midwest Refining company, was wanted as a witness in the two oil trials of Harry F. Sinclair. His extradition from Paris was sought by the government on charges in connection with his income tax but the French courts declined to assist.

Copies of the notification of the second seizure will be mailed to American officials at Paris, Marseille, Nice, Monaco and London to be served on Blackmer if he is found.

"Corpse" of Negress Proves To Be Alive; Scares Undertakers

Milledgeville, Ga., January 7.—(Special).—Eva Gibson, negro woman of Milledgeville, "came back to life" after dying here Wednesday morning and created considerable excitement among the staff of the colored undertaker, Alona Slater, who were preparing her for burial.

After the scare was over the "corpse" was returned home and lived until Thursday morning about 10 o'clock, when the woman really died, and was embalmed and buried without further excitement.

GEORGIAN REFUSE BANKRUPT REVIEW IN SUPREME COURT

Washington, January 7.—(AP)—Thomas M. Swift, Jr., was refused review by the supreme court today on an order of the lower federal court adjudging him a bankrupt in connection with the liquidation of the Georgia Loan and Savings bank. Swift contended he was exempt from the bankruptcy proceedings because he was chiefly engaged in farming. He was indebted to the bank loans of approximately $10,000, a state superintendent of banks closing up the affairs of the bank brought involuntary bankruptcy proceedings against him. Swift insisted that under Georgia laws he could not be declared bankrupt to the bankruptcy statute. The federal courts held he was not sufficiently engaged in agriculture to claim exemption.

DEFICIENCY BILL VOTED BY HOUSE AFTER FIGHT

Washington, January 7.—(AP)—House democrats today lost a fight to require all tax refunds in excess of $75,000 to be passed upon by the joint congressional committee on internal revenue legislation before an appropriation could be made for their payment. After an extended debate an amendment to a deficiency supply bill, which carries $75,000,000 to repay a number of tax refunds now due, the house by a vote of 168 to 130 refused to return the bill to committee for inclusion of the democratic sponsored provision. Shortly after the house passed and sent the bill to the senate. The measure is the first deficiency bill of the present session, and would provide a total appropriation of $84,000,000 to meet emergency fiscal needs of the government for the current fiscal year. Representative Byrnes, of Tennessee, ranking democrat on the house appropriations committee, offered the amendment which was supported almost unanimously by the democratic membership. Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, the democratic leader, spoke against the proposal, but did not participate in the voting.

BEWARE THE COUGHS THAT FOLLOW FLU!

They May Weaken Your System and Lead to Serious Trouble

You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion may help you avoid flu, but is not sold as a flu remedy. If you have fever, or think you may have the flu, see your doctor immediately. (adv.)

Flowers Meant For Pennington Are Led Astray

Thorns which accompanied the post as provisional mayor pro tem of the city of Atlanta in 1928 went to Alderman Robert F. Pennington, of the first ward during that year, and the flowers were gathered by Alderman Oscar H. Williamson, of the ninth. It is customary for colleagues of the mayor pro tem to present him with a token of their esteem as he quits the post each year, and Monday night Alderman Claude Ashler, of the fourth ward incumbent, was given a beautiful watch.

Then it was that Councilman John A. White, of the fourth, and chairman of the parks committee, decided that the mayor pro tem should be awarded a basket of flowers each for their services to the city during the year. The presentation to Mr. Ashley was made with appropriate pomp, and then Mr. White mistook Mr. Williamson for the provisional mayor pro tem and gave him a basket laden with beautiful blooms before anyone could call his attention to the mistake. When Mr. White learned of his error he sent for another basket of flowers and they were awarded to the right party. In seconding the nomination of Alderman J. Allen Couch, of the fifth, as provisional mayor pro tem of the council for 1929, Mr. Williamson declared: "I expect to get the flowers anyway, and think it is as little as I can do."

The planes will be piloted by Johnny Kytte, F. W. Gurley and C. B. Tallafiero and will carry a special committee of Atlanta commission merchants who will extend a welcome to the visitors. During the stopover at Buford the Atlanta pilots will entertain with a brief display of stunts, dropping miniature parachutes to the women delegates aboard the two trains.

A tri-motored Ford plane, winging its way from Detroit with 14 passengers, passed through Atlanta Monday on its way to Miami. The big ship which is declared to have a speed in excess of 135 miles per hour, made the hop from Detroit to Atlanta in five hours and 43 minutes. The new Ford plane was piloted by C. D. ## New York Capitalist Visions Prosperity Throughout the Year

Washington, January 7.—(AP)—Barron Collier, New York capitalist, believes that prosperity will continue through 1929. He based his belief on the result of observations made by members of his organization in 3,500 communities, these findings being compressed by Collier into a book, "How Is Business in the United States," the first copy of which was presented today to President Coolidge. Mr. Collier said that there had been marked improvement shown in agricultural regions of the middle and northwestern sections and that the weakest spots were in the coal regions, and parts of the lumber, fruit and vineyard sections.

NEW EVOLUTION CASE CONFRONTS TENNESSEE

Fathers of Two Boys Accuse Principal of Teaching Subject.

Jamestown, Tenn., January 7.—(AP)—Tennessee has another evolution case. The fathers of two boys expelled by Professor Elmore Gentry, principal of the Fentress County High school, at Clarkrange, near Jamestown, have charged that he violated the state anti-evolution act in the use of textbooks they said were found in the school library. The expulsions followed a quarrel between the boys and Professor Gentry.

F. O. Dixon and Bart Jones, who brought the charges, acquainted the county board of education with the matter at a meeting last Friday, when the principal's action in expelling the students was upheld. The board decided to consider the evolution charges at a meeting January 11.

Professor Gentry's friends defended him by saying the textbook read by the indignant fathers were for reference only, and were not used in conducting classes. He denied, his friends said, that he had taught subjects proscribed by the state act. The board, empowered to employ or discharge county school teachers, has not indicated what its course at the hearing will be. Professor Gentry likewise has not said whether he would appeal to some other body if the charges were upheld.

Despite the principal's reticence, patrons of the school seemed to be as sharply divided as were those concerned with the hearing at Dayton several years ago of similar charges against John T. Scopes.

Professor Gentry has been with the Clarkrange school nearly three years. He is middle-aged.

Catarrh Favors Flu, Colds, Coughs and Croup

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with chronic catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious diseases. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with natural breathing, thus preventing proper oxygenation and purification of the blood by the lungs and also absolutely prevents restful, refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to all germ infections such as colds, flu, pneumonia, etc.

"I know an easy way to keep from getting fat..... Light a Lucky instead of eating sweets."

Nazimova
Famous Stage Star

THE modern way to diet! Light a Lucky when fattening sweets tempt you. That's what thousands of lovely women are doing—successfully. The delicately toasted flavor of Luckies makes them a delightful alternative for fattening sweets. Toasting does it. Toasting removes the impurities and improves the flavor of the finest tobacco. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Men who pride themselves on keeping fit discovered this long ago. They know that Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition—many prominent athletes have testified to this fact. They discovered, too, that Luckies don't irritate the throat—a fact subscribed to by 20,679 physicians.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

Hoover Opens Headquarters And Begins Hearing Advice On Cabinet and Legislation

Senators and Party Leaders Keep President-Elect Busy by Continuous Calls During Day.

Washington, January 7.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover spent his first day in Washington since his election acquainting President Coolidge with the results of his Latin American mission and receiving a barrage of reports and suggestions from friends and republican party leaders who called at his temporary headquarters at the Mayflower hotel in an almost steady stream.

The president-elect had nothing to say regarding either his white house visit or his conferences. It was stated on his behalf, however, that he had entered upon a two or three days' period of "listening" to what his callers had to say.

Conference With Curtis.
After spending the day at the Mayflower, the president-elect returned to his "S" street home for a dinner-conference with Senator Curtis, of Kansas, republican leader of the senate and vice president-elect. Senator Curtis will sit in on cabinet meetings during the Hoover administration at the invitation of the president-elect extended before the election.

A wide range of subjects were covered in the more than a dozen conferences which the next president had during the day and evening, running from cabinet and other appointments to the matter of the promised extra session of the 71st congress in the event that the present session fails to enact an adequate program of farm relief legislation.

If the next president had any comment to make, his callers successfully kept the fact to themselves. Some of them frankly said they did not believe

Mr. Hoover had made up his own mind regarding the selection of his official family while others were inclined to the belief that he had formulated at least a tentative slate. They had no suggestions to offer as to what names might be on the slate, although the opinion appeared to be general that Andrew W. Mellon would remain as secretary of the treasury and that the attorney-generalship would be offered to William J. Donovan, of New York.

There were several guesses as to the secretary of state, but admittedly those who were doing the guessing had no concrete information. Several names were mentioned but no new ones were added, the supply seemingly becoming exhausted with the roll call of Senator Borah, of Idaho, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow to Mexico, and Ambassador Henry Fletcher to Italy.

Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, president pro-tempore of the senate, who was among the callers, said he probably was responsible for bringing into the picture the name of Roland W. Boyden, of Boston, a close personal friend of Mr. Hoover, who served as an American observer on the reparations commission at the request of the now president-elect.

Position Urged for Morrow.
Selection of Ambassador Morrow for secretary of state was urged upon Mr. Hoover by Senator Walter F. Edge and senator-elect Hamilton F. Keen, New Jersey, who were among the early callers. They also presented a letter from Daniel Pomeroy, of New Jersey, vice chairman of the republican national committee.

Killed by Own Gun.
Nashville, Tenn., January 7.—(AP)—T. T. Keith, 37, of Cowan, state deputy fire marshal, was fatally wounded here today when his pistol slipped from its holster and fired when it struck a cuspidor. Keith was in the office of the state fire marshal when the accident occurred.

TENNESSEE TO HONOR 'OLD HICKORY' TODAY

Officials To Join in Program on Anniversary of Battle of New Orleans.

Nashville, Tenn., January 7.—(AP)—The government of Tennessee tonight was ready to abandon its official cares for a few brief hours tomorrow, to honor Andrew Jackson at the Hermitage.

Both houses of the legislature, Governor Henry Horton, and high officials of the national guard and other state departments have joined in preparations for the program. Instead of the ball usually held by the Ladies' Hermitage association, a pilgrimage to the old mansion and the groves where Jackson and his wife were buried, and memorial addresses at a banquet tomorrow night, were the principal events arranged.

National guard units, legislators and representatives of most of Nashville's civic and fraternal organizations were asked to join in the march to the Hermitage. The rooms "Old Hickory" returned to from New Orleans, left to enter the white house, and at the end died in, were made ready for the visit of the hundreds eager to honor him.

Benton McMillan, former governor of Tennessee, and national democratic committeeman, accepted the invitation to deliver the principal memorial address at the banquet. Mrs. Bettie Donnelly, descendant of Mrs. Jackson's family and founder of the Andrew Jackson society, arranged the banquet program, which will be held at the Hotel Hermitage.

Service To 197,703 Families During '28 Shown in Report To Annual Meeting of Chest

Record of Stewardship Includes Aid to an Average of 16,475 Families a Month.

Record of a stewardship that included service in helpfulness and human development to a total of 197,703 families and individuals in 1928, or an average of 16,475 a month, was shown at the annual meeting of the Atlanta Community Chest Monday afternoon at the chamber of commerce auditorium.

The figures were included in the annual report of Frank Miller, executive director, who reported that the 32 societies in the family relief and service group ministered to 77,002 families and individuals, an average of 6,411 a month; the child welfare group of 10 societies to 12,904 individuals, an average of 1,075 a month; the individual group of four societies to 2,421 individuals, an average of 201 a month; the character-forming group of eight societies to 97,450, an average of 8,120; the educational group of three societies to 7,595, an average of 634.

Social Service Exchange. The social service exchange, which operates to prevent duplication and waste of charity funds, cleared 6,873 cases, and increased its file to 54,341 names, establishing thus a systematic record of the city's welfare needs.

The chest elected H. M. Atkinson, chairman of the board of the Georgia Power company, as president; Eugene B. Black, governor of the Federal Reserve bank, first vice president; W. C. Wardlaw, vice president of the Trust Company of Georgia, second vice president, and H. W. Davis, vice president of the Atlanta and Lowry National bank, treasurer.

Don't neglect any cold now. Colds are so weakening; and in a weakened condition, you are so susceptible to more serious troubles.

When you find you are catching cold, take care to keep the bowels open. That's the first precaution every doctor advises. That's the way to avoid the congestion which makes you feverish, achy, half-sick, miserable.

Millions know the quick way to open the bowels, keep them active, is with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin. Every second of the day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to get a bottle of this splendid medicine, made from simple laxative herbs and pepsin by the formula Doctor Caldwell found so effective during his 47 years' medical practice.

Central of Georgia Discusses Comfort, Convenience and Safety Offered by the Railroads to the Winter Traveler

The comfort, convenience and safety which the railroads offer the traveler are never more noticeable than during the winter months. No other form of transportation is so independent of weather conditions. The passenger in a steam heated railroad car enjoys immunity from cold winds, snow, sleet or rain outside his car window. In the steel coaches or sleeping cars of the railroad he is free from the trials, strain and hazards accompanying other forms of travel. Then too he can rely upon reaching his destination at the expected time, since approximately 98 per cent of all passenger trains are operated on time—and delays at destination or en route or seldom more than a few minutes.

The advantages which the railroads offer the traveler are the results of gradual development and improvement during the past one hundred years, and constant efforts are being made to make passenger service even better. The railroad passenger need not fear sudden storms, or that he will be the victim of exposure to the weather. He need not be afraid of delay because of breakdowns or bad roads. He need have little fear of accidents, due either to his own carelessness or—as is so often the case—to that of others. Nowhere else will he be more comfortable or safe than in the passenger cars of the railroads.

Traffic accidents on highways and streets are taking an alarming and steadily increasing toll of life. Almost every week-end sees more pedestrians and motorists killed in such accidents than meet their deaths while traveling as passengers on the railroads in an entire year. An average of approximately ten million persons are safely hauled by the railroads for each passenger fatality injured. The last passenger fatality on the Central of Georgia occurred on December 29, 1922, since which time eighteen million passengers have been safely handled.

The Central of Georgia caters to the winter traveler by offering passenger service that is safe, comfortable and reliable. One of the most striking developments of modern American life is the increasing number of persons who arrange their affairs so as to be able to take short or extended vacation trips during the winter months. Many of these, particularly in the colder northern parts of our country, use the trains to visit other sections. Through advertising, direct solicitation and other means the Central of Georgia endeavors to bring to the attention of these prospective tourists from other sections the recreational and climatic advantages of Georgia, Alabama and Florida. Reduced through rates, permitting stop-overs, have been put into effect, while no better passenger service is offered by any railroad than on the through tourist trains operated by this railroad and its connections.

The Central of Georgia solicits the patronage of the winter traveler, both from the north and its own section. It places its service at his disposal, whether his trip be a short or an extended one, whether he be traveling on business or on pleasure.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

J. J. PELLEY,
President, Central of Georgia Railway Company.

Savannah, Ga., January 7, 1929.

Mr. Miller was reelected executive director.

At motion of R. A. Magill, gratitude was expressed in formal statement to the officers for their work in the last year, and particular tribute was paid Rodney Morrison, Jr., who retired as chairman of the executive committee because of ill health. Election of Henry C. Heins to succeed him was announced, as was the addition of Kendall Weisiger and Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin to the committee.

Receipts—Total $465,480.01.

Receipts of $465,480.01 for the year were announced in the financial statement of Mr. Miller, and expenditure of $462,749.13. The receipts included, however, loans of $115,000 from banks, of which $40,000 are yet to be paid. With this obligation computed as a liability, it was shown that the chest had a deficit of $44,237.15 for the year—in other words, that it paid to agencies for the necessary work of relief and development that amount in excess of the funds the chest was able to raise by its public appeal, the deficit being composed of the following items:

Due agencies, $5,007.03; outstanding loans, $40,000; accounts payable, $1,000; total, $46,007.03. From this was deducted the amount of cash on hand at the first of the year, which amounted to $2,719.88, making the net deficit $44,237.15.

With the goal of the public appeal for 1929 support set at $480,000, it was reported that only $388,889.78 has been collected in the campaign which began November 19. Of this, $38,585.97 had been collected to November 31, and utilized for immediate necessities of the charitable organization. This leaves available, it was reported, $345,313.81 for 1929 needs, of which it was estimated $45,000 will be lost by "shrinkage," or a total of $300,313.81 available for 1929 needs.

Collection of Pledges. It was calculated that $20,000 will be realized on collection of pledges of previous years, and $35,000 at the last of the year on collections in the fall campaign, which with the $2,719.88 cash on hand and the $300,313.81 available from pledges, gives a total of $358,033.69 available for the 1929 program, Mr. Miller said.

Facing this was the necessity of expending $401,407.03 for social welfare work under the following items: due agencies on 1928 budgets, $5,007.03; due agencies on 1929 budgets, $20,000; administrative expenses and 1930 campaign expenses, $34,000; outstanding loans, $40,000. On this basis, Mr. Miller pointed out, a deficit of $43,373.34 is faced at the end of this year.

"We are going to try to reduce this by continuing our appeal and seeking more closely to approach our goal of $480,000," Mr. Atkinson said. "We are going to strive earnestly also to improve collections, and to awaken the public's active interest in this work which is the most essential public service in the city. The people of Atlanta are yet to be impressed with the importance and value of this great program of constructive helpfulness."

VALDOSTA WOMAN SEEKS CLEMENCY FOR MRS. DURIN

Mrs. Russell Peoples, prominent Valdosta woman, appeared before the state prison commission Monday and made an eloquent plea for a parole for Mrs. Nora Durin, of Warrenton, Ore., recently sentenced to serve a life term following her conviction on a murder charge. Mrs. Peoples explained to the commission that the imprisonment of Mrs. Durin left five children without protection or care. Mrs. Peoples filed a written statement signed by Mrs. Durin in which the prisoner stated that she did not fire the fatal shot but assumed blame for it on the advice of her husband. The prison commission took the case under advisement.

FORECLOSURE SOUGHT OF 1050 PONCE DE LEON

Operators of Apartment Are Unable To Meet Obligation, Suit Sets Out.

A foreclosure bill asking for a receivership for the 1050 Ponce de Leon company was filed in Fulton superior court Monday by the Citizens and Southern National bank, as trustee. The Fulton National bank was appointed temporary receiver. The company operates a large apartment hotel at the corner of Ponce de Leon and Highland avenues.

Filing of the bill was brought about by the failure of the defendant company to meet the January 1 principal amortization and interest payments, according to the petition. The suit alleges that the defendant has stated substantially that it is through with the property and cannot continue. The suit asks for a foreclosure in equity and a sale of the property conveyed by indenture for the security of the bonds. According to the petition, the bonds were issued by the Adair Realty and Trust company, and when that company resigned as trustee, it was succeeded by the Citizens and Southern National bank.

Bonds outstanding against the property amount to $925,000, the suit sets out. The defendant company was first chartered as the 750 Ponce de Leon company, and this was later changed by amendment to 1050 Ponce de Leon company, the petition states. Judge Shepard Bryan, chairman of the bondholders' protective committee appointed by United States district court in the Adair bankruptcy matter, Monday night said that calls for the deposit of the 1050 Ponce de Leon bonds with the committee are being sent out. Other members of this protective committee are Wilmer L. Moore, L. W. Courts, Jr., Harry Rankin and Colonel Sandy Deaver, of Riverside.

The foreclosure bill was filed by Alston, Alston, Foster and Moore as attorneys for the plaintiff.

The Constitution Editorial On Dixie Plum Quiz Goes Into Congressional Record

Comment Heartily Approving Inquiry Incorporated in Document by Senator George.

Washington, January 7.—As an indication of the popular approval given the investigation of southern patronage conditions by the Brookhart special committee, Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, today incorporated in the Congressional Record a copy of an editorial on the subject appearing in The Atlanta Constitution of Sunday, January 6.

In reading the editorial for the Record, Senator George told his colleagues that it was typical of the expressions that have come from newspapers of the section in condemning federal patronage practices as revealed by the recent special report from Senator Smith W. Brookhart, republican, of Iowa, chairman of the investigating body.

Georgia was particularly interested in the findings of the committee, he said, because of the inquiry and revelations there.

The editorial, under the title "Stop It By Law," said in part:

"Federal patronage jobs in the south during the republican administrations, especially in Georgia, as disclosed by the Brookhart investigation committee of which Senator Brookhart, republican, of Iowa, is chairman, has assumed such a national al scandal that it takes its place along with Teapot Dome, the Forbes steal, the Miller steal, the Vane and Smith corruptions, and others of like infamy. And yet, according to Federal District Attorney Clint Hager, who knew of the perfidious practice, and sought to stop it, there is no law to inhibit this system of tribute levying, or to punish the patronage extortioners who place federal jobs literally on the auction block.

"So the situation, unthinkable in its moral if not legal culpability, is squarely at the door of congress. Postmaster General New says the system is obnoxious and abhorrent, and that his department denounces it.

"And yet it has been disclosed that he was acquainted with the exactions made of him by the system, and he has not only continued but has increased it, and of the definite 'price' that was placed upon an appointment to a small postoffice that paid only a meager salary at best.

"He did not stop the levying of such tribute, and if he complained it did not have any effect for the scandal not only continued but grew in its boldness, reaching a point finally where a card index system was adopted, similar in bookkeeping to the installment plan of merchandising.

"There is but one answer—that is the enactment of a federal law that will make such practice a felony, applicable to both the receiver and the giver of tribute for federal jobs.

"Such an infamous system, if continued as it has been practiced, will tear at the very roots of popular government and overturn every ideal of constitutional liberty and of integrity in federal administration."

OFFICIALS URGED ADDED U. S. FUNDS FOR ROADS IN PARK

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
Washington, January 7.—Additional appropriations for the construction and maintenance of government highways through Chickamauga Park were urged today by Senator W. J. Harris and Representative M. C. Tarver, of Georgia.

The two Georgia members were prompted to call on the budget director because of the action of the war department in recommending a decrease in funds for the purpose. Under bills passed at the last session authority was given for the transfer of the Lafayette and Ringgold roads of Chickamauga park to the state and government officials were of the opinion that the roads had actually been turned over. Senator Harris and Representative Tarver explained that the transfer had not taken place and yet, insisting that until this is done further appropriations for roads in the park will be necessary.

Jackets Triumphantly Ride Through Streets to Flats

BY BEN COTHMAN.
"Marcel! Marcel! There's the boy that blocked it. . . Hey, Stumpy, Stumpy—where's Stumpy? . . . Yes, Tech. We got plenty Bear meat. . . Howdy, Father. . . Look, there's Mizel. . . Yes, Pund. . . Give 'em hell, Tech. . . Wow, Jackets. . . Whee-e-e, yippee! Whoopie!" Georgia Tech's football team, champions of the world, came home Monday night to a city gone wild. Rolling into the Terminal station amid the din and bedlam of all the railroad whistles in the yards going full blast, being swept up the stairs through a narrow lane with humanity packed on each side, row upon row, on out into the plaza, climbing better-skelter into open automobiles and Lindberghing it out Peachtree to West Peachtree on to North avenue and down to the stadium, the Jacket team came home and then, tired and weary, went to bed.

Bussing in his ears was the din that reverberated through the length and breadth of the city. . . the shrill shrieks of woman, casting her decoy through the city, sirens screaming, Tech students running wild up and down the line of march calling to each player, automobile horns sounding continually, hands playing, fathers holding their children up to see the town's heroes and yelling at the same time. . . The Jacket went to bed fully convinced that he had been welcomed home.

Glad To Be Home. . . They were glad to get home. Almost as glad to get home as Atlanta was to have them back. Sitting up there on those back seats, the boys didn't say much but they didn't miss anything that was going on.

"Say," said Glenn Holland, perched upon the back seat of one of the cars next to Vance Marce, "those people act like they're kind of glad to see us. Place looks familiar, doesn't it?"

"Sure does."

"Gosh, look at all those good-looking women. I didn't know there were that many in the world."

Good-looking girls, beautiful women, ravishing damsels—they were all in the front line Monday night to see the thrilling Jackets.

The cars bearing the boys crawled down the lane lined with humans. Whitehall street was reached and the density of the crowds increased.

"Damn! All the people in town must be down here tonight."

The procession moved on up Whitehall. Something happened up ahead and everyone stopped. Out of the crowd rushed a young woman, blew a kiss toward Vance Marce and yelled, "Vance, let's see you block that one."

The big, wavy-haired Frenchman shouted back, "I couldn't do that."

Get Kick Out of Welcome. . . You might expect a team that had gone through a season undefeated, traveled clear across the continent to meet another team and defeat it for the national title and coming back had had a great railroad system clear its tracks that they might come through on time, you might expect the boys to be rather fed up on adulation and acclaim.

But the Jackets were back home. And riding through this great crowd of homefolks, they got a big kick out of it. First there was the buzzing undertone of the people chattering among themselves; then the cars bearing the players began coming through. Faces were turned up, with eager expressions, necks were craned, and "There they are. There are the champs."

Thieves hit twice at cousin of chief: wallet, auto gone

Thieves struck twice Monday night at T. O. Poole, of 1181 Ponce de Leon avenue, cousin of Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole, and removed his desire to celebrate.

Standing in the huge throngs at Terminal station to greet the returning Tech team, his pocket was picked of his wallet, containing a $200 cashier's check and 4 in cash, he reported to police.

When he went to Marietta and Cona streets, where he had left his car parked, it had been stolen.

R. P. Poole, of 684 Linwood avenue, no relation either to T. O. Poole or the chief of detectives, reported his pocket was picked of a pocketbook containing $234 note, $220 in checks and $20 in cash while at the Terminal station.

SUGAR MAKES EATING A JOY

Why eat unflavored, unappetizing foods?

A change is coming over the well-informed eating habit of this country. For a time, food faddists tried to make us believe that we didn't like in order to be healthy. Good sense is beginning to assert itself and we now know that the foods that are good for us may also be the most enjoyable. In fact, if we don't like the healthful foods, we probably won't eat them.

Prominent medical and other scientific authorities are now reminding us that appetizing flavors may be developed and improved by sugar. One well-known scientist, for example, states that "Fruit flavors are developed by sugar. Fruit acids are softened by sugar."

The only safe rule for a healthful diet is to eat as large a variety of foods as possible, including healthful cereals, fruits and vegetables made appetizing to the taste by the judicious use of sugar. Sugar is not only nutriment in its least costly form. It is Nature's perfect flavor. Sugar develops the appetizing quality of nearly all fruits. Desserts of fresh or cooked fruits are growing more and more popular. Modern candy containing fruits, nuts and pure sugar is delicious and satisfying to the end of a meal. No one should overeat or under-exercise, but everyone, in order to be healthy, should eat plenty of healthful foods and enjoy them. The Sugar Institute.

Chronic, Deep-Seated Catarrh Broken Up

Remedy Reaches Far Back in the Head

Catarrh is more than a filthy ailment. It is a menace to health and life. It spreads through the nose, head, throat and lungs. Its poisons infect the whole body.

Salves, sprays, etc., cannot reach many of the infected parts, and unless they are reached the catarrh stays. When you inhale Dr. Blosser's Remedy, the soothing, healing smoke is carried to the many tiny infected air passages of your nose, head, throat, lungs. Quick relief follows. Your cough is checked, the foul mucus in head and throat cleared up, you breathe easily, your head noises stop.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is prepared in cigarette form for convenience in using. It is made only of medicinal herbs, berries and flowers. No tobacco or cubebs. So harmless that children may use it freely. Get a pocket-size package from your druggist and see how it helps.

THE MAYOR'S MESSAGE.

Mayor Ragsdale's message to council is not merely a comprehensive review of his administrative activities, but an unanswerable argument for a continuation of the wise financial policy that has made Atlanta one of the most progressive and prosperous cities of this country.

With ample credit facilities to warrant, and with a number of municipal developments not only pressing but imperative, the mayor unqualifiedly recommends another municipal bond issue to be voted on early this spring.

He points out in detail the further improvements that are so urgently needed, and impresses the general welfare that will accrue to the city, and to all citizens, by putting bond funds in circulation, thus taking up the slack, absorbing unemployment, and attracting new citizens to further swell Atlanta's rapidly growing trade.

The crux of his message in this respect is contained in the following brief paragraph:

"Since 1921 Atlanta has voted two bond issues totaling $16,850,000. Approximately $13,000,000 has been spent. This money has covered through the channels of trade giving vitality to Atlanta and Atlanta institutions and providing work for our citizens, when other cities were depressed for want of vital life. It has gone forward in progress and increased values as few other cities of equal size have done."

The statement cannot be challenged. Every citizen has seen and felt the direct benefits of capitalizing resources, and building for the future as well as for the present.

Under the Georgia law, which is wise, a bond issue cannot exceed 7 per cent of taxable valuations.

When the proceeds are wisely spent in improvements the investment not only carries itself but proves, by enhanced valuation, immensely profitable. The mayor's recommendation for another bond issue, and for the developments that could thus be secured, is safe, sane, and sound.

It is the only way by which the city may hope to progress.

MRS. JULIUS REGENSTEIN.

The recent death of Mrs. Julius Regenstein in her 83d year removes from Atlanta one of the city's most highly esteemed pioneer citizens. Her husband who preceded her many years ago was one of Atlanta's early builders in the establishment of the great millinery house that still carries his name. Today the house of Regenstein, managed by his sons, ranks among the foremost business houses in the south.

No parents could leave a better heritage than in children who prove worthy of their inheritance. This is eminently true in the case of the children of these beloved Atlanta pioneers, for their sons and daughters are all worthy representatives of the qualities of head and heart bequeathed them by their parents.

For more than a generation the name of Regenstein has been symbolic of integrity and the sons who have for many years directed the great business established by their father could have paid his memory no greater tribute than by the manner in which they have maintained his policy of righteous conduct and square dealing in all phases of their endeavor.

A publisher of a London newspaper has given $125,000 to charity to gratify the joy of not being injured when he was party to an automobile accident. The high cost of living is beyond most of us.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

God made the country but it is up to congress to do something about it.

WELCOME HOME!

Atlanta, and thousands of other Georgians, joined last night in giving to the Golden Tornado heroes the heartiest and most colorful reception ever accorded to any individual or group in this city.

It was spectacular but it was orderly and the appreciation of every man, woman and child who lined the streets, despite the cold, was one of incomparable enthusiasm for the national football champions.

The idols of the hour, home in triumph, accepted the honors bestowed upon them with becoming modesty.

The nation is proud of the Georgia School of Technology, for its efficiency and the proud position it holds among the educational institutions of the country.

All Georgia is proud of Tech's football team, and the gentlemanly, well tutored young men who extend the national record.

THE BOX "BREAK."

The letter of Representative Box, of Texas, the newly elected democratic house whip, to Governor Roosevelt, of New York, in which he advises the party to "get rid of Smith and his supporters" is unwise, ill-advised and ill-tempered.

Former Governor Smith, as the democratic candidate for president, received more popular votes than any democratic candidate in the history of the party.

He is the titular head of the party, and will be until 1932. The party is stronger today than it has been since the close of the Wilson administration.

To follow the Box policy would mean the destruction of the party. If Box is not a better "whip" than his letter to Governor Roosevelt indicates him to be, the party, at least in the house, is in a bad fix.

"TEX" RICKARD.

George Louis Rickard, internationally famous sportsman—affectionately known by millions of people as "Tex"—played the game fairly and nobly. He made fighters, and he died fighting.

The great popularity of "Tex" arose from the fact that he made a manly business of sport.

In his home city of New York he was esteemed by all classes, and was outstanding as a business man and as a progressive and constructive builder.

As president of the Madison Square Garden corporation he headed one of the great business institutions of that city.

He showed in all of his business dealings, whether in sport or in other lines, the highest ideals of efficiency and fair dealing.

His personal habits were above reproach. He was a clean, well-mannered citizen at all times and under all circumstances.

"Tex" Rickard took an active part in politics, not as a seeker of office, but as a worker in the democratic party, to which he was financially and personally useful.

In the death of this man a truly unique American passed.

COMMISSION MEN HERE.

One of the largest conventions of the year begins in Atlanta today, the National League of Commission Merchants.

It will bring together approximately one thousand business people from every state in the union. Atlanta extends to the delegates and to the lady attendants a warm and hearty welcome. The business meetings will be held at the Biltmore hotel, and a number of social affairs have been arranged.

Among the matters to come before the convention are a number of bills pending before congress relating to the trade. The Borah mandatory license bill, and the Simmons voluntary registration bill are among them. Both are of vital importance.

One of the outstanding visitors is Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business. This is the magazine of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. There will be a large number of other business leaders of the country in attendance.

There will be many national conventions in Atlanta this year, but none, perhaps, will bring such a large number of the business men of the nation together.

Nearly 200 plans submitted to the Duran prohibition enforcement contest suggested the death penalty for violators of the Volstead act. Aren't a lot of 'em getting it?

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

The Plight of the Democratic Party With Militant Leadership.

Washington, January 7.—(Special.) Among the serious-thinking and forward-looking democrats here at the national capital there is much concern over the policy which the party leaders should pursue in order to put it in fighting shape for future campaigns.

There is a consensus of opinion among the party leaders at the front of the party just now, and that is acknowledged to be an unfortunate predicament.

It puts the national party again in a position where there is a condition that followed the defeat of General Hancock in 1880.

Governor Smith by rule, is the titular head of the party until the national convention of 1932, but it is all too manifest that he cannot command the confidence and support of some millions of those who have been loyal to him since his recent election, and who, in spite of his insurgency in it, still desire to be considered and counted as conscientious democrats.

Smith's Attitude in Doubt. Thus far Governor Smith's attitude in the matter of his leadership has been kept veiled while he was yet in the state of mind to be turned to that office over to his successor. That act was performed on New Year's day and now Smith is entirely free to speak and ponder as he chooses.

Back in the days before beauty contests were called pageants of pulchritude when the winners were content with the modest title of Miss America, Europeans were satisfied to send over some comely young signorita or mademoiselle and let it go at that. Now, however, that the high-powered promoters of these affairs have taken to crowning the winners "Miss Universe" in defiance of the claims of other nations, not to say planets, Europe feels that it is time to stand up on its hind legs. At any rate, Europe is going to do something about it, at least that portion of Europe represented by Le Journal. What Europe, still speaking through Le Journal, proposes to do is this: To hold a great international beauty contest in Paris this February and select from among the fairest, representatives of each country "one fairest one" to represent the whole world.

This plan Europe would be represented at the Galveston convention by the most beautiful girl of the whole continent, not merely by one or two beauties from as many countries as has been the system in the past. In order that the girl chosen at Paris shall be the fairest of the fairest, the plan is to have a preliminary round of beauty contests in each country, and the winner of each of these preliminary rounds will be the one to represent the country at the Galveston convention.

Some of his strong friends here say that when he shall have accepted his personal affairs for the immediate years ahead, he will insist upon his leadership of the party. In doing that, he will have a lessening of the influence of his loyal friend Governor Roosevelt and by the constant defeat and seconding of Chairman Ragsdale, of the national committee, he will have a lessening of his authority and can be relied upon to acknowledge the Smith leadership.

The Need for a Strong Leader. The need of the party for a strong commanding leader was never more obvious than right now. Senator Robinson will continue to be the party's parliamentary leader in the United States senate, and in a fortunate circumstance, he will have to wear the broken armor that he brought out of the November debacle, and will have a lessening of his authority in the senate chamber to lead, but he retains the loyalty of his party colleagues and the confidence of the rank and file at large.

Major Charles D. Hubner, poet-laureate of the south, painter, musician, and a master of the cultural arts, did last week at the ripe old age of 94, leave for his home in the south to leave generations yet unborn. His last poem was written late in December, just a few days before he passed into his eternal sleep. It is a poem of the life of a man, and to the end, unclouded by the long years of his life. To a marked extent it was prophetic. It follows:

A Spirit's Voice.

I. Life gives me dimming sunset years, Gives me old memory, Age old dreams of days of tears, And these oft come to me.

II. I dream of loved ones passed away, In Heaven's light they stand; I dream that I, some wondrous day, Shall find them in some star.

III. I feel a spirit in my soul, That ever yearns and flames, With power beyond this earth's control, This spirit's voice proclaims:

IV. "In Heaven await loved ones of yore, Who left you many a year, Their angel wings have leave Heaven's shore, And while you dream, draw near!"

V. In Heaven, heart yearnings cease to be, There, all you loved and knew, With you shall live eternally, There, all you dreamed come true." CHARLES W. HUBNER.

VOICE OF ATLANTA

ROARS WELCOME

batled glowering warriors when they came smiling home Monday night. This writer and a Constitution photographer boarded the Tech Special at Tallapoosa as it passed there momentarily before resuming its normal and joyous dash home. The little town—first in Georgia at which the Tech train stopped—was out 100 per cent in its appreciation of the Tornado's resounding victory.

The yell that went up and the glare that shined the train from a gigantic "V" outlined in electric lights beside the track, gave the Tech team a foretaste of the wild reception that was to come.

The Constitution Presented. An ubiquitous Pullman porter padded to the seat of each Tech player, coach and transmittal man, and presented a copy of this paper "with the compliments of The Constitution, Inc." The Constitution was warmly received, and the Yellow Jackets were warned of the scope of the welcoming celebration Atlanta had planned for them.

They sat quietly in their seats and read, and out of Texas—and far out, at that.

Party Misdeeds Are Active. The proposal of Chairman Ragsdale to have a conference of party captains to consider and formulate a program of correct action before any other campaign arrives, has been frowned down, seemingly, by the leading democrats here in congress. Many of the congressmen are deeply interested in the political sagacity and views of Chairman Ragsdale.

They prefer to await for this session, the course of events, and before the next congress is convened, hold a caucus of democratic senators and representatives to decide what the party shall stand for and what issues for the future it will endeavor to make.

Some of the most astute among them point out that men are active in the party with propositions calculated to mislead it into unpopular and impossible positions, they wish to be free to checkmate such dangerous movements and prevent the party from being held responsible for them. It may become necessary to hold a party caucus and refuse support of them.

An Instance in Point. For instance, one of the ablest of the elder senators from the south said yesterday to The Constitution's looker-on:

"I am amazed by the position taken by Representative Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, on the subject of the tariff. He is making himself the champion of a drastic 'downward revision' of the most important tariff schedules. And that, at a time when the farmers and many manufacturing interests are absolutely demonstrating the need of higher tariff rates in order to protect them from foreign smothering imports and to save from inanition some of the greater industries, like the textiles. Why, if the recent national election made any one thing plain to the very gates of Tech, it is that the people for stronger protection of the essential industries of this country. Nothing, in my opinion, could be more destructive to the democratic party than to endorse and support the Hull proposition. I, for one, will never do it!"

Independence Is Asserted. Your looker-on sounded other democrats, both of the senate and house, and found them of the same opinion about the tariff. I have quoted. Almost to a man, they agreed, with intention, in the absence of any binding caucus program, to follow their independent judgments upon legislative measures as they came up.

There are other party men who wish to subordinate all other party issues to the one main proposition of the plenary enforcement or the repeal of the prohibition amendment. They really want to make the repeal issue the sole one of the congressional campaign of 1932 and the national party will be made sooner or later and it is claimed that the democratic party is the right one to force the show down by the American electorate as to whether the present form of prohibition shall continue, or a real temperance program be substituted?

The Election of 1930. If I were to give my judgment from the conferences I have had with representative men of both parties, it is that the most of them that the prohibition issue should be dropped. The issue of the off-year congressional campaign of 1930.

God's sake, said an eminent party leader, "let us have an armistice with the prohibition issue. Let us go out in 1930 and by our candidacies test the waters of our districts want the sort of prohibition we have, or whether they want something else."

Just what happened aboard the Question Mark was told by Lieutenant Quenda in simple words as he lounged in the automobile speeding to the Tech station.

Just as I left the controls at 1 o'clock this afternoon, Captain Eaker took the wheel and the left motor went dead. We sent Sergeant Hoar to the right motor, but his weight was too heavy for the unstable condition of the Question Mark.

THOUSANDS LINE STREETS TO CHEER

carried by and given a cheer, each cheer just a bit outdoing the one previous.

In the station lobby Mrs. Winfrey Stuart Ramsey as Miss Atlanta, J. C. Roberts as Uncle Sam and J. C. Owen as Colonel Georgia greeted the players in the name of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. The real meaning and spirit of the parade was in the rushing crowd, perhaps, but most of the players extended a warm hand to Miss Atlanta and seemed to take great pleasure in offering the cheering the good wishes of whose president they received before entraining from Pasadena for home.

Mayor R. N. Ragsdale, who had been the team home from Pasadena by only a few hours, was there to extend a formal greeting which the boys were forced to take "on the fly" because behind each one was a crowd pushing its way to the plaza with its own particular hero.

Swinging Doors Suffer. "So great was the force and enthusiasm of the crowd at the station that the swinging doors of the building were jammed back up against each other. In many places the people were being trampled, and the throng was lined up at each intersection, extending down Decatur and Edgewood almost to Pryor street. At each intersection a fire truck which roared out the meeting of the fire department, its members themselves often heroes in the public eye.

At the Henry Grady hotel where the parade halted long enough to get a moment's respite from the marching, the thundered forth a volume of noise that all but drowned out the "drum" of the band that was playing on the mezzanine floor of the hotel, facing the street.

The huge horn, that could have been heard for several miles had there been no other sound, was a muffled, blasted forth a roar which "Rambling Wreck" followed by an announcement that paid tribute to the automobiles on the street.

As the procession moved out West Peachtree street from Baker street the military units in line out and flanked on the right and left of North Avenue permitting the motor cars carrying the players to pass through the crowd.

When Tech fans reached an ever-growing short-lane parade which had grown from several score boys and girls to a throng of thousands of youths at the campus, had its own and claimed members of the team as the players were being led to go to sleep and sleep the sleep of heroes in an appreciative homeland.

The crowd at the station and along the parade route was the greatest to assemble in Atlanta for any purpose was the consensus of opinion of those in charge of the reception.

"It was Atlanta's greatest," Mr. Hallman said. "I had expected a tremendous crowd and a great outburst of enthusiasm but tonight's homecoming reception far exceeded all my expectations."

The crowd not only was the greatest but the most spontaneous he had ever seen, Henderson Hallman, marshal of the parade, said.

"We did our best to keep this monster throng in check but our best I must admit was not good enough."

Mr. Hallman said that he would not force people who were being led to the players. All in all it was a great party, the greatest I have ever seen in Atlanta and as great as anyone ever hope to see in this city which is known for its demonstrations.

ATLANTA GREEKS FIGHT CLEMENCY FOR NEGRO

Letter to Prison Commission Asks Body To Deny Pardon to Poolos' Slayer.

Calling attention to the fact that the defendant had been convicted of premeditated crime and that he already had been given some leniency, in that his sentence to death had been changed to life imprisonment, George D. Poolos, proprietor of the Forsyth restaurant, at Forsyth and Alabama streets, Monday in a letter to the prison commission of Georgia asked that body not to grant the requested pardon of Clifford Walker, colored, for the murder of Pete Poolos, cousin of George Poolos.

Poolos, in his letter, pointed out to the prison body that Walker in company with two other negroes, all former employees of his restaurant, came to the restaurant early on the morning of November 21, 1922, just as Pete Poolos, employed by his cousin, was opening the place of business.

The negroes forced Poolos down into the basement of the restaurant while they prepared to return to the first floor and rob the place, it is set out in the letter. When the employee attempted to break loose from the bonds which held him, he was shot to death.

The negroes were convicted and sentenced to die, but Governor Clifford Walker commuted their sentences to life imprisonment, the letter set out, and to pardon Walker now would be a gross miscarriage of justice, Poolos feels. Poolos states that his letter represents the feeling of practically every Atlanta Greek.

MRS. MILLER HAS GAINED 26 POUNDS, HEALTH RESTORED

Only Weighed 90 Pounds When She Began Taking Sargon; Now Weighs 116; Scores of Friends Amazed at Her Remarkable Improvement.

"Since I began taking Sargon I have actually gained twenty-six pounds," was the truly remarkable statement made a few days ago by Mrs. Nellie Miller, residing at 407 N. Main street, Memphis, Tenn. Mrs. Miller is a prominent church worker and is highly esteemed by all who know her.

"When I commenced taking the medicine I only weighed ninety pounds," she said, "and I now weigh one hundred and sixteen. I feel better than I have in ten years."

"For years I suffered with a bad form of stomach trouble, constipation and pains in my side. I lost weight and was so weak I could hardly get around."

"I had no appetite at all scarcely, and what little I did eat would cause gas to form on my stomach, and gave me palpitation of the heart, headaches and dizzy spells. When these attacks came on me I would get awfully nervous. I worried about myself until I could sleep and rest but little. I never knew what it was to retire at night without taking some kind of strong purgative. I considered this an absolute necessity."

"I had fallen off until I was almost 'skin and bones,' and my strength and energy were slowly leaving me. I was finally told that I had gall bladder trouble, and I had a constant dread of the future."

"After I had given up all hope of ever being well again a friend of mine persuaded me to give Sargon a trial. I shall always thank this friend from the bottom of my heart, for the medicine helped me from the very first day. It seemed to take hold right at once. It had a soothing effect and in a few days I felt no pain at all. I was so happy over my wonderful improvement that I sent for my second bottle. I have been taking Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills faithfully ever since, and now I feel like I have been made all over again."

"I now have a splendid appetite and have gone back to eating things I hadn't dare touch before I started taking the medicine. Those terrible pains in my side have disappeared and I sleep like a child. I am no longer nervous, and when I get up mornings I feel refreshed, cheerful and bright. I really feel as if I had started life all over again. My recovery is the talk of the neighborhood. I do nothing but rejoice all day long now over the wonderful change that has come over me and praise Sargon to everybody."

"I believe Sargon Soft Mass Pills have had a lot to do with my recovery, and think they should always be taken in connection with Sargon. They are entirely different from any other laxative I ever took, because they are so mild and easy in action. They are absolutely dependable."

"I am so grateful for what the Sargon treatment has done for me that you may publish all I have said about it."

The special Sargon representative, with headquarters at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, is daily meeting scores of local men and women who wish to learn more about Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills, the celebrated medicines which have met with such immediate success wherever introduced. Sargon may also be obtained at the other Jacobs' Pharmacy company stores all over Atlanta.—(adv.)

aires, made millions and had loads of fun doing it, will be alone with his co-workers, the members of his family, and newspapermen who visited him daily for years.

The body of the promoter will arrive at 10:15 a. m. from Miami Beach, Fla., where Rickard died yesterday after failing to rally from an appendix operation performed New Year's day. With a police escort of 20 men, the body will be accompanied to the massive steel and stone symbol of Rickard's genius by Jack Dempsey, Walter Field, Mrs. Rickard, and the directors of Madison Square Garden.

Once there the body will lie in state until Wednesday morning at 10 a. m. when the public will be admitted. Religious services of a type as yet undetermined will be held at 1:30 p. m. with burial at 2 p. m. in the Rickard plot at Woodlawn, where his first wife and daughter lie.

No attempt was made at the meeting of the directors to name a permanent successor to Rickard. The board adopted a long resolution expressing sorrow at the death of their president and lauding his ability and sportsmanship.

While the funeral train sped northward from Florida, discussion as to Rickard's successor were lost in preparations for the return of the dead "chief." Most prominent were the names of Jack Dempsey, who was Rickard's firm friend and with him when he died, Tom McAnille, present matchmaker at the Garden, and Colonel Hammond. While appointed only temporarily, the latter said he would "hold the job until removed."

One of the Hammond's first duties was to issue an announcement that there would be no change in plans for staging the heavyweight title match between Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling that sent Rickard to Florida. Hammond said he believed Rickard would have wanted the fight to go on and that preparations were practically complete to hold the bout February 27.

CHAMBLEE CHICKEN FARM IS DESTROYED IN $12,000 BLAZE

Fire early Sunday morning destroyed 3,500 chickens, and a three-story building housing valuable incubation and breeding equipment at the Irvindale dairy and poultry farm at Chamblee, it was reported Monday. Loss was estimated at $12,000.

The fire, thought to have started from exploding kerosene in the tank of one of the brooders, was discovered about 6 o'clock Sunday morning after it had gained good headway. Efforts of a bucket brigade were confined to saving surrounding barns and houses.

CHATAHOOCHEE RIVER SITEN COURT TANGLE

Decree To Straighten Out
Title to Property Sought by Spence Heirs.

A court decree to straighten out the matter of title to valuable Chatahoochee river property inherited from their mother is sought in a petition filed Monday in Fulton superior court by Mrs. Eleanor Spence Letford, suing for herself and as next friend of her minor brother and sister, George and Mary Spence.

The suit names as defendants the Woodmere Land and Improvement company, George W. Spence, Jr., sonally and as administrator of the estate of Mrs. Annie R. Spence, and Daniel MacDonaghd, the latter defendant claiming title to the property because of a deed on the form of a deed, although intended as a loan.

MacDonaghd gave an option to buy the property to S. N. Evans and John S. Owens, who, in turn, transferred the option to the Woodmere company, which was organized by Spence according to the petition. If MacDonaghd obtains title, it will destroy the value of the estate inherited by the plaintiffs, which was to be paid in full to the plaintiffs in the event of the death of the defendant, which now is in the hands of the court.

BOND ISSUE URGED IN MAYOR'S MESSAGE

building boom on Spring, Marietta and Luckie streets amounting to millions of dollars, the message stated, going on to predict that even greater benefits may be expected from the enhancement in real estate values resulting from the Central avenue and Pryor street viaducts, which now are nearing completion.

Candler Field Development.
Establishment and development, to date, of Candler field, Atlanta's municipal airport, is one of the most important projects which has been consummated through bond funds. The message urged, however, that the city exercise its option to purchase the property for $100,000, the option to expire on April 16, 1930.

Atlanta and Fulton county have spent almost $100,000 upon development of the field, the message stated. "The aviation committee and general council have adopted a proposed plan of additional development which will double the area of the airport, and which will be carried into effect, I think, however, the city should buy the property before other large sums are spent improving it. The aviation committee and chairman of the committee are to be congratulated upon their progressive and excellent direction of Candler field."

A successful year's work in all of the departments of the municipal government was outlined in the comprehensive message.

Street Department Praised.

The street department was praised for its work during the year in street paving, laying of sewers and the laying of sidewalks, curbs and gutters, as well as the improvement of sanitary conditions by the laying of lateral sewers.

Work of the detective department in the recovery of stolen property, particularly automobiles, was brought out, the message indicating that the force had recovered $1,000,000 worth of property during 1928 to pay the salaries of its members for eight years. The uniformed force also was lauded for its work and especial mention made of the efficient administration of Chief Bowers, of the police department, and Chief Poole, of the detective department. The mayor urged that the proposal to equip police cars with radio equipment be carefully investigated, with a view to its becoming a valuable adjunct of the department in its work on crime.

Fire Department's Work.

The fire department had another successful year of operation, the mayor pointed out, and the waterworks department showed a good record for the year of $900,000, after deducting $625,000 for operation and maintenance cost, plus waterworks interest and sinking fund and cost of depreciation.

The school department, which is starting upon the new year without a deficit for the first time in 10 years, the parks department, the Carnegie library, the public health department and all other phases of the governmental life of the city were commended by the mayor for their progress and achievement during the year just passed.

As a remedy for at least a portion of Atlanta's perplexing traffic problem, Mayor Spence recommended the assignment of plainclothes men to traffic duty in outlying districts. "Few major accidents occur downtown," the mayor stated, "in the residential districts drivers are often disposed toward reckless speed, feeling reasonably secure in their chances of getting by. If they knew that the watchful eyes of a plainclothes officer might be observing them they would find it much easier to obey the law. I wish to recommend that a considerable number of plainclothes men be assigned to principal streets in the outlying districts."

Message in Full.

The mayor's message, in full, is as follows:

"Gentlemen:
"In the two years that have passed since I assumed the oath of mayor my consciousness of the responsibilities of this office have deepened. I am more than ever aware of the privilege and opportunity to serve. Two years ago my controlling aim was to try during my term to serve the best interests of all the people, as far as my ability made it possible. This is my guiding desire for the remainder of my administration.
"The success of an administration is greatly dependent upon the measures enacted by general council and upon the manner of operation of the departments.
"I have been impressed with the evident desire of members of general council to discharge their duties as true representatives of the people, giving liberality of their time and effort to promote advancement of the city. The department heads have shown a willingness to cooperate that is most commendable, and the rank and file of employees have exhibited the same spirit."

Cooperation Commended.

are individuals who are reluctant to pull the same share of load that their fellows do, but exceptions of this nature in the past have been few and far as the negligible, when we consider that there are 2,500 persons engaged in the city's employ.
"The public is quick to note friction in municipal government, if friction exists. Neither does the public fail to notice the lack of friction, because it seems natural to expect quibbling in public affairs. It has gratified me to hear over and over again that people are observing cooperation in our departments and are commenting favorably.
"This is good advertising for Atlanta. This is the kind of advertising we want to broadcast, so that our own citizens and outsiders may know that peace and harmony prevail, and that those who subvert upon the public treasury are putting forth unselfish service."

New Faces Welcomed.

"Tonight we miss some familiar faces from council. Several department heads also retire and new ones take office. I regret to see them sever official connection with the city. They will carry with them the consciousness of having done their best and of having served their city well. I wish them success in their private pursuits. The incoming officials will no doubt bring zeal and competency to the discharge of their duties and I welcome them to serving."

"Before outlining some recommendations which I deem necessary, I wish to call attention to Atlanta's phenomenal building program in 1928. With construction figures of $27,580,541, the city established a new building record, topped the former record of $22,004,912 made in 1923 by $4,575,629."

"Construction work is a good guarantee of prosperity, as a large part of the work done last year was in the construction of new buildings. It adds to local currency circulation. Permits for several of the larger projects were taken out last year and construction of the buildings will take place this year. Municipal improvements were a big factor in turning the 1928 figures into a record-breaking total. The students, schools, city hall, sewer and other construction provided work for hundreds of persons and released large sums of money into the community. The building program is more good advertising for Atlanta and we should make the most of it."

Citizens' Commission.

"Our municipal government is patterned upon the plan of our national government, for the people by the people. Recently a representative group of citizens interested in Atlanta and the government of Atlanta, suggested that our people hear something of the plan put into effect in Baltimore by a citizens' commission, and I joined these citizens in an invitation to Hon. William J. Casey, of Baltimore, vice chairman of the commission, to visit Atlanta and speak. He accepted, and on November 22 addressed a large assembly of leading citizens outlining the Baltimore plan. The students, schools, city hall, sewer and other construction provided work for hundreds of persons and released large sums of money into the community. The building program is more good advertising for Atlanta and we should make the most of it."

"The Baltimore commission was composed of outstanding men of business experience. They gave their services and loaned the services of members of their organizations to the task of building a more efficient machine. I have endeavored to secure for Atlanta a commission of equal caliber."

Finance.

"Each year certain fixed obligations must be deducted by the finance committee from current revenue, making up the January budget. Principal items of deduction are interest and sinking fund to retire previous bonds issued, and the cost of the 1929 bonds are required to set aside the sum of $765,331.92. We must appropriate to the interest account $735,190.00, and to the sinking fund $30,141.92. Other obligations incurred include the purchase of park property, auditorium annex, Grady hospital annex and waterworks project, totaling $89,782. Unfinished street projects, including East Fair, Peters, Luckie, Techwood, drive, West Peachtree, Courtland and Kimbrell, aggregate $192,000. Thus we have approximately $1,784,313 to deduct at the start. Other special obligations, which bring the total up to $2,000,000, are required to be set aside for the work in 1927 and diverted to build a new unit of the crematorium. The construction department estimates that cost of a new bridge will be about $200,000. I wish to urge that funds for the work be authorized."

Economy Urged.

"Vigorous pressure likely will be brought to bear upon members of general council in favor of large, and in some instances, great appropriations for certain departments. I earnestly urge the importance and necessity of scrutinizing closely all estimates of our departments, and of maintaining a conservative attitude in the face of increased revenue."

bonds in an amount not to exceed 7 per cent of the total assessed valuation of real and personal property. On the basis of 1928 assessments, Atlanta may float bonds to the value of $27,447,580 reaching her authorized debt limit. Present bonds outstanding, including the 1926 bonds, are $18,601,000. There are $8,756,560 additional will exhaust our bonding limit for the time being."

"However, our bonding capacity is conservative and we should feel no anxiety about preparations for another bond issue. I view the great benefits derived from the last two bond issues, and pressing need for certain additional public improvements. I believe that general council will act wisely to submit another bond issue to vote of the people early this year."

"I think members of this body fully appreciate the necessity of an enlargement of Grady hospital and Battle Hill sanatorium. These are institutions of mercy, rendering their help to the needy and suffering. In their present overcrowded condition, with facilities lacking, they are unable to fulfill their mission to all who apply. They are faced with a compelling duty to remedy this condition."

"Grady hospital should be enlarged to serve not only all those classified as charity patients, but should provide pay wards to receive those able to and is in a sadly dilapidated state. There has been pending for several years an offer from Jacob Elzas to donate to the city $150,000 toward erection of a pay ward at Grady, provided the city will furnish a similar amount. A bond issue would enable the city to take advantage of this generous offer."

Legal Trouble Threatened.

"Carnegie library is badly hampered for lack of space. Its usefulness is impaired and must continue so, with growing degree, until more space is provided. The library is built on the lot owned by the city on Forsyth street immediately adjacent to the present library building. The students, schools, city hall, sewer and other construction provided work for hundreds of persons and released large sums of money into the community. The building program is more good advertising for Atlanta and we should make the most of it."

"Our police barracks are a discredit to Atlanta. The building has long since passed out of the modern class, and is in a sadly dilapidated state. New barracks should be included in plans for a future bond issue."

"Candler field and our municipal airport should not be overlooked when making up a list of important bond items."

"Our sewer system demands more funds, and I cannot too strongly urge immediate attention to extensions, for unless this is done the city is liable to become involved in serious legal trouble growing out of the nuisance of sewage contamination of streams. The amount of the state of Georgia, at this point, our school system requires further expansion to meet Atlanta's rapid growth. There are other needs which I shall not undertake to discuss in detail, but which are important to the progress and upbuilding of our city."

Bond Issues Aid City.

"Since 1921 Atlanta has voted two bond issues totaling $16,500,000. Approximately $13,000,000 has been spent. This money has gone toward the channels of trade, giving vitality to Atlanta and Atlanta institutions. The amount of the state of Georgia, at this point, our school system requires further expansion to meet Atlanta's rapid growth. There are other needs which I shall not undertake to discuss in detail, but which are important to the progress and upbuilding of our city."

"The fire department has finished another year of good performance. For some time the department has answered calls from beyond the city limits, as well as within the city, and in doing so has undertaken to furnish protection to 400,000 people. If county-wide service is to continue, Fulton county should be willing to share the cost of the department's work. Chief Cioffi expresses the opinion that a double-company engine house should be built at the extreme end of the city, and another at the extreme southern border, the county to contribute to erection and equipment of the buildings. I commend the idea. The department has been preparing for the installation of eleven fire alarm boxes in East Lake to add protection to that section."

"Operation of the waterworks department has been satisfactory and the major items of improvement attention is called to the recent installation of new 40,000-gallon pump at Hemphill station. Specifications are being prepared for installation of new boiler equipment at Hemphill station. When these boilers are installed, hardly any sort of accident could ordinarily happen would cause a complete shut-down of service."

"There is being installed an additional 36-inch force main from the new pump into the center of the city, and this main is being so cross-connected to existing mains as to afford continuous water supply ample for all needs. The large feeder main to the city is being so cross-connected to existing mains as to afford continuous water supply ample for all needs. The large feeder main to the city is being so cross-connected to existing mains as to afford continuous water supply ample for all needs."

"More than 20 miles of mains were laid by the department during 1928, giving the city a total of 613 miles of mains. There are over 50,000 water service meters in active use, and 5,000 fire hydrants."

"A special standpoint the department has been successful. Revenues from the water works and waterworks receipts amount to one and three-quarter millions of dollars. Receipts from other sources brought the 1928 total to approximately $2,000,000."

"The water works showed net revenue of $800,000, after deducting $108,000 for operation and maintenance cost, plus water works interest and sinking fund and cost of depreciation."

Garage Is Urged.

"I desire to impress upon general council the importance of building a garage for the city cars and trucks. The city is losing many thousands of dollars each year on account of exposure to the weather of our equipment. From time to time the cars and trucks are being damaged by the weather and they could be used to erect a garage ample large enough to house all equipment, and the work could be done largely by city hands and at small cost."

"All cars, except some used by the police department and possibly a few others, should be checked in at night and Saturdays and checked out of mornings, when called for by proper authority, and all cars should be painted a very conspicuous color."

"I estimate that by putting into effect this recommendation the city would save at least $50,000 per year on repairs and maintenance."

"It is very probable this change would create some dissatisfaction among employees, but it is nevertheless our duty to inaugurate any change which will make for efficiency and economy."

"In the past year there has been a very large amount of acreage added to the city."

"J. A. McCrea, a well-known Californian, recently made the following statement:
"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture in five minutes, that will darken gray hair and make it soft and glossy. Merely take a half-pint of water, add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1-4 ounce of glycerine."

"The mixture can be bought at any drug store at trifling cost. Apply to the hair twice weekly with a comb. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and will not run off."

this year are the following: East Fair street, $25,000; Peters street, $25,000; Luckie, $55,000; Techwood, $55,000; Courtland street, $40,000.

"In the interest of orderly traffic, I wish to suggest that streets now in being repaired be finished before other streets are torn up."

Police Record.
"Our city, with an estimated population of 285,000, has a police force numbering 400 persons, with an area of 35 square miles to cover. The proportion of officers to population is one to 712. Both the uniformed and detective forces are doing excellent work."

"During the first 11 months of 1928 the detective department recovered 1,267 stolen automobiles and other stolen property in addition to the value of $709,484. The department apprehended criminals and obtained $1,679,000 in recovered property. The work of 35 men. Total annual salary of the 35 detectives is about $100,000. They recovered enough property in value last year to pay their combined salaries for eight years."

"In 1926 the detective department numbered 40 officers, recovered stolen property amounting to $263,717. In 1927 stolen goods valued at $695,940 were recovered, evening out the activity and efficiency of the force."

"Much of the better police showing since 1926 is due to the fact that Chief Bowers and Chief Poole have been allowed to govern their forces unhampered. The same policy with respect to other department heads has produced excellent results."

Radio Station Urged.

"I have noticed a great deal in the press concerning the use of radio as a police adjunct. I note that the city has a police station and police cars equipped with special receivers, has achieved remarkable results in the apprehension of criminals and lesser offenders. Speed is a prime factor in catching criminals."

"The addition of radio equipment might prove a valuable forward step for our department. Last year's police work shows that the station and police cars equipped with special receivers, has achieved remarkable results in the apprehension of criminals and lesser offenders. Speed is a prime factor in catching criminals."

"I am of the opinion that future efficiency of police service and activity of the fire department, will be improved by reducing the maximum and minimum age limits for men accepted for service."

"The present rules applicants between the ages of 23 and 40 years are considered for membership on the police force, while applicants for the fire department must be between the ages of 21 and 35. I feel positive that the standard of service of both departments will be raised if the age minimum of applicants is fixed at 21 and the maximum at 30. I recommend that this be done."

our park system, possibly some that should not have been contracted for and at the present time may seem unwise."

"But judging the future by the past, we will concede that all cities of any importance must have a good system of parks and it is wise to secure property when it can be had in large acreage and in locations where the parks are accessible to large communities."

Park System.
"In this connection, I desire to say that this has been carried out in the location of parks that will be convenient for all sections. With regard to the purchase of one piece of property known as the Perkerson tract I desire to make this statement: I was never very enthusiastic as to this purchase, yet knowing the property as I do, situated on a public highway with wonderful concrete roads on three sides extending more than three miles, practically all of the tract in virgin forest and lying beautifully for all purposes, I honestly believe the property a good value and that it could not be duplicated for the price, even if very much farther from the city. If necessary, and it possibly will be in the near future, a portion of the property could be used for a flying field, placing the tract within a very few minutes drive of the city."

"I sincerely believe it would be wise to repudiate the contract for any park property that has been secured, as Atlanta has never, as far as my knowledge goes, repudiated a contract. I desire to make it very plain that the name given this park was never suggested or even thought of by me until I saw the name in the newspapers."

Sanitary Department.

"The mayor's office has a fairly accurate way of judging sanitary department performances independent of reports which the department makes. Any slowing down of its activity in collecting garbage and rubbish is sure to bring prompt complaints from householders. Such complaints were scattered last year, but they were diminished until they nearly ceased."

"The department collected and hauled to the crematory 50,821 tons of garbage and rubbish, carted 29,336 loads of street sweepings to dumps, and removed 10,411 dead animals."

"Surplus steam from the crematory is sold to the Georgia Power company and proceeds from sale of the steam are netted $165,000. The sanitary income from a product which formerly was allowed to waste. Intelligent economies of operation have permitted the department to close the year with some financial balance to its credit."

"Another vital division of our government is the health department. When we consider that it protects our milk supply, locates, segregates and treats contagious diseases, carries on mosquito eradication, vaccinates school children and adults, and through the public health and school physicians renders a live to parents and valuable services to children in the schools and out of school, its importance becomes conspicuous. Atlanta's death rate compares favorably with that of other large cities that claim low mortality rates."

"I have already given special attention to the foundation of education. I would suggest to the board of education a policy of retrenchment in the purchase of materials that may seem desirable to have in the schools, but which at the same time are not indispensable to sound educational progress of our children."

"The schools built and to be built from proceeds of the last bond issue will have classroom accommodations for 8,000 pupils. The building program has suffered numerous delays, but the program is well under way and should be finished this year. All but a few thousand dollars of the $3,500,000 allocated to schools has been appropriated, but a large remainder is unexpended. The school department embraces additions to Hoke Smith, O'Keefe, Joe Brown and William A. Bass Junior High schools, and new buildings at Orinwood, Capitol View, Stanton Hill, Morningstar, and the colored school on Ashby street."

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 7.—(AP)—The sixty-sixth general assembly of Tennessee was organized today with surprisingly little ado. Senator Sam Bratton, of Ohio county, was elected speaker of the senate and Charles Love, of Springfield, was named speaker of the house. Eugene Anderson, secretary to Governor Henry Horton and administration candidate for secretary of state, announced his withdrawal from the contest for the post of harmony. His withdrawal left Ernest Hixon, incumbent, without opposition in the secretaryship race.

PLUTO*America's Laxative Water

THE most important single factor in preventing or conquering the flu is keeping internally clean by flushing out the waste-poisons in which flu germs thrive.

If you feel the flu coming on, take Pluto Mineral Water. If you're unfortunate enough to have already contracted it, Pluto will help you fight it off by ridding your body of poisonous waste products.

A small amount of Pluto Mineral Water each morning, diluted in plain hot water, maintains the system at top efficiency—free of poisons and in perfect trim to combat the flu.

Pluto is harmless, non-griping, non-habit-forming. It flushes out the system in from 30 minutes to two hours. Physicians prescribe it.

eleventh, and E. A. Gilliam, of the twelfth.

Two-Year Councilmen.

Councilmen inducted for two-year terms are H. Turner Loehr, of the first; Howard C. McCutcheon, second; J. W. Rountree, and Charles L. Chosewood, third; Joseph E. Berman, fourth; Tom C. Morris, fifth; Harry York, sixth; Wiley L. Moore, seventh; Frank Reynolds and James Wells, eighth; Robert Cobb, Jr., ninth; W. Garland Cooper, tenth; William E. Johnson, eleventh, and William E. Saunders, twelfth.

Committee assignments were well distributed and general satisfaction was expressed over the assignments for the new year.

To Councilman Wiley L. Moore, of the seventh ward, will go the arduous task of piloting the city's finances again this year. His reappointment was forecast several days ago because of the unusual record the city made in financial strides during the past year.

Chosewood Again Selected. Charles L. Chosewood again heads the streets committee, a post he has held for the past several years. The mayor praised the work of the committee in his address.

Councilman Harry York, of the sixth, was shifted from the chairmanship of the traffic committee, and James L. Wells, eighth, assumed that post. Alderman J. Charles Murphy, eleventh, was named to the committee. He also was assigned as chairman of the police committee for another term. Sam A. Wardlaw, first; Claude E. Buchanan, eighth, and William E. Saunders, twelfth, were retained.

Nelson Spratt, of the tenth, was named to the purchasing committee, the place occupied in 1928 by Councilman Raleigh Drennon, of the ninth.

Councilman J. T. Ozburn was kept as chairman, and the only other change was substitution of James L. Wells, eighth, to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Dr. C. J. Vaughan, fourth.

Dr. Moon Named. Dr. P. L. Moon, alderman, third, was named as chairman of the sewers committee to fill the post held last year by Alderman Pennington. Councilman Ozburn was named to the committee in place of Mr. Moore. Other changes were Councilman White for Dr. Vaughan, retired.

Only necessary substitutions were made in the water committee and no change was made in the parks and hospitals and charities committee.

Alderman Robert E. Gann, sixth, was shifted from the chairmanship of the tax committee and was succeeded by Nelson Spratt, tenth, and Mr. Gann succeeded Mr. Wardlaw as chairman of the electric lights body.

Gilliam Succeeds Dr. Vaughan. Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, twelfth, succeeded Dr. Vaughan as head of the charter revision committee. Jack C. Hardy, sixth, retained chairmanship of the cemetery committee. Councilman James E. Bowden, retired, was succeeded as chairman of the fire committee by Tom C. Morris, his successor in council. Councilman Ellis B. Barrett, fifth, was replaced as chairman of the ordinance committee by J. W. Rountree, third, and Mr. Barrett was assigned as chairman of the aviation committee, succeeding Alderman Hartsfield, retired.

Other changes were: Harry York succeeded Dr. P. L. Moon as chairman of the printing committee; Mr. Pennington succeeded Mr. Cooper as chairman of the municipal research and statistics; J. E. Berman, fourth, took the place of J. M. House, twelfth, retired, as chairman of the minutes committee, and Mr. Wardlaw succeeded J. C. Hardy, as head of the municipal markets committee.

Pennington Succeeds Ashley. Mr. Pennington succeeded Mayor Pro Tem Claude Ashley and Mr. Ashley's colleagues presented him with a beautiful watch in recognition of his services. Alderman Murphy made the presentation address, lauding the faithful service, punctuality, fairness and fearlessness of Mr. Ashley as a presiding officer. Mr. Pennington was provisional mayor pro tem last year, and Mr. Couch was named to succeed him.

There was no opposition to either, council placing the honors by unanimous vote.

The only piece of legislation offered at the first session of the 1929 council Monday night was a paper presented by Councilman H. T. Loehr that permits be declared void where no work has been begun on buildings for which unrestricted permits were issued up until December 21. This was an effort to force such builders to comply with the new zoning laws.

1928 Council Ends Work. City political chiefs buried the year 1928 in short order Monday afternoon and it went into oblivion along with the others that have gone before.

The council session was purely perfunctory in nature and only matters of urgent necessity were considered.

Alderman Hartsfield, chairman of the aviation committee and one of the few men in the city government who have fostered aviation for the last quadrennial, issued a final appeal for the purchase and proper development of Candler field, Atlanta's airport, as the hub of aeronautical activities of the entire south.

His address was the feature of the meeting Monday afternoon.

"Just before I step on the scaffold of political oblivion in Atlanta, I wish to make one final appeal to this council to purchase Candler field and to see that it is properly developed," Mr. Hartsfield said.

"The city's option will expire in April, 1930. When that time comes none of the Candler will be here urging this council to avail itself of the opportunity to buy the tract for $100,000, the purchase figure named in the option. They know they can realize much more by selling it to private interests.

$2,000,000 Spent.

"A total of approximately $2,000,000 will have been spent by the federal government in lighting air lines leading into and through the southern metropolis when those now under construction and contemplation are completed. Candler field was selected after a careful survey of available tracts in and about the city. It is the only stretch bearing the sanction of the aeronautical department of the United States department of commerce, the war and postoffice departments. There are whispers of other sites being offered. Atlanta and Fulton county have a few many improvements about and on the property on which the city has a five-year option to purchase. Let me urge this body to purchase the tract and place aviation on a firm and stable basis in Atlanta."

County Aid Asked. Mr. Hartsfield offered a resolution asking county aid in grading and improving the field. The paper was sanctioned by a unanimous vote of council.

Kimball street as an extension of Ponce de Leon avenue was formally by action of council to Ponce de Leon avenue and New street, between the present Union station and Decatur street, between the station and Decatur street, was named Kimball street in honor of H. I. Kimball, late pioneer citizen and builder of the famous Kimball House.

This action was taken by unanimous agreement of the eighth and sixth ward delegations in city council, where the two streets lie.

Council Members Landed. Resolutions commending the service of Mr. Hartsfield, Dr. Vaughan, councilman from the fourth ward; Bowden, councilman from the fifth, and Alderman House of the twelfth, were unanimously passed by a rising vote of council when Councilman White, of the fourth, presented the paper.

Another effort to eliminate the smoke nuisance in Atlanta was taken at the session Monday when Alderman Dobbs offered a resolution referring a proposed ordinance to force railroads to electrify engines operating in the inner fire limits by January 1, 1931.

Referred to Committee. The proposal will be referred to a special committee named by Mayor Ragsdale to consider the proposal to eliminate smoke in the downtown area. Council considered the proposal last summer, but on motion of Mr. Dobbs, who offered the paper at that time, it was withdrawn before the committee, named by the mayor had considered it.

Railroads have contended that electrification costs are prohibitive, and steps to control the smoke, soot and other objectionable emissions are expected to be evolved by the committee working in conjunction with one which the council will name.

W. S. Featherstone, of the fourth ward, was named a member of the city planning commission to succeed John L. Cone, resigned to accept the post as first assistant paymaster.

Revised Zoning Laws. Councilman White also offered the revised city zoning laws and they were ordered advertised for a public hearing to be held not less than 30 days after the first publication is made. Council passed the ordinances several days ago, but several revisions have been made thus necessitating another public hearing and another action by council. The step was taken on advice of City Attorney James L. Mayson.

L. Glenn Dewberry, custodian of the Atlanta city hall, and the Atlanta parks department, under the supervision of L. L. Wallis, were given a vote of thanks for the floral and decorations of the chamber for the reorganization program.

A proposal to make the eastern side of Piedmont avenue from Piedmont park to the Southern railway belt line crossing a residential district instead of a business district was referred to the city planning commission for consideration.

Other routine matters also were considered, and many annual reports of various departments of the city government were received and filed.

Clarke Donaldson succeeded William A. Hansell as chief of construction.

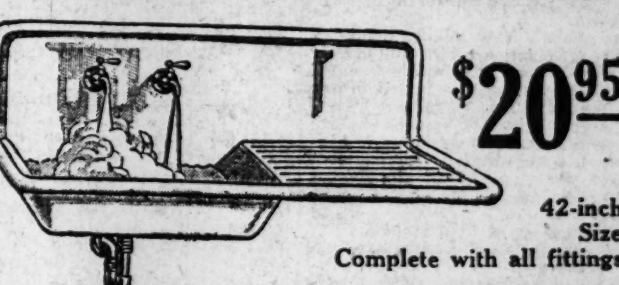

Ben Daniel succeeded Walter Harwell as city marshal; Pat W. Hendricks succeeded R. S. Turner as city electrician, and R. A. McMurry succeeded as tax collector, succeeding F. E. Florence in department head changes taking place in the reorganization program of the Atlanta city government.

GOVERNMENT COST IN GEORGIA LOWER THAN ALL OTHERS

Washington, January 7.—(AP)—Georgia's per capita cost of state government in 1927 was lower than that of any state in the union, according to the bureau of the census, United States department of commerce. Georgia also compared favorably with surrounding southern states in the matter of per capita tax levies, state debt, revenue receipts and property valuation for taxation.

The census bureau's table showed state government in Georgia cost $20.175,000, or $8.36 per capita, in 1927. Ohio was next lowest, with $6.45, and Tennessee was third with $6.38 per capita.

What about the FLU

HAVE you had it?
Are you going to have it? What are you doing to prevent it?

Everybody is asking these questions
just now.

Doctors say to keep out of crowds;
be cheerful; eat good food; get plenty of sleep; keep the bowels open.

At the first sign of constipation, take a dose of Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT.

At the first sign of Flu, that is, when you begin to have a little temperature and feel like you are taking cold, go to bed and call your doctor. You can not cure the Flu on your feet.

Prevention, as everyone knows, is better than cure. One of the best ways to prevent catching a cold which might develop into the Flu, is to keep your system
free from impurities by using Thedford's

As All Atlanta Shouted Its Tribute to Heroes of Tech

Photos by George Cornett and Kenneth Rogers, Staff Photographers.

Here are an outstanding group of photographs vividly depicting important parts of Atlanta's momentous welcome to Georgia Tech's national championship football team Monday night. In the upper left the gigantic and resplendent military parade is seen moving through Mitchell street between two lanes of cheering thousands of well-wishers. The front car is bearing Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, the city's chief executive, taking no little pride in the honor the Yellow Jackets have brought to Atlanta. In the upper right is shown the three participants in the Chamber of Commerce impressive bit of pageantry staged as its section to the welcome celebration. J. C. Roberts as Uncle Sam, Mrs. Winfrey S. Ramsey as Miss Atlanta, and R. C. Owen as Colonel Georgia. Below at the left is a photo of Coach Bill Alexander and Captain Peter Pund, taken on the Atlanta-bound train as they are quietly discussing Tech performances, past and future. In the lower right is a view of a small section of the vast crowd which greeted the team at the Terminal station.

THEATER REVIEWS

TALKING PICTURES REACH NEW HEIGHT IN HOWARD FILM

One of the finest screen vehicle seen locally in many months; impelling in its drama and amazing in its veracious reproduction of the actors' voices, is to be seen this week at the Howard theater in "Interference," the first Paramount all-talking picture.

A brilliant cast, headed by three masters of the spoken and pantomimic art, Clive Brook, William Powell and Evelyn Brent, sketch the story of the picture with magnificent strokes. "Interference" undoubtedly will be enjoyed by Atlanta audience as no other picture of the year.

Even the dyed-in-the-wool patrons of the spoken stage cannot help but admit that "Interference" is finer even than any vehicle of the legitimate stage.

It tells the story of a returned English veteran of the war who has been reported dead and who has been adventuring around the continent under an assumed name. His return brings disaster to his former wife, who thinking him dead, has married another.

Mix in this a blackmailing, jealous former mistress of the returned soldier, and draw them all to a climax and out of it is poured true drama in one of the best stories of the season. The stage success of this picture is Broadway is presented intact by Paramount.

Accompanying parts of the unit program present Edith Cantor, the famous musical comedy star in a skit with Bobbe Arnot and Ruth Etting in a program of song hits. Altogether the best all-round program the city has and has offered under its sound policy.

CAPITOL HEADLINER OFFERS SOMETHING NEW IN VAUDEVILLE

Those who say there is nothing new under the sun should witness the vaudeville bill which opened at Loew's Capitol theater Monday and they will change their minds, because there is a genuine new act in vaudeville and it is presented by Joe Morris and Flo Campbell and their company.

The Morris-Campbell combination takes one of the new Movietone "Talkies," starts it off, then jumps in and plays parts in person and then switches back to the Movietone version. Joe Morris is a droll comedian and Flo Campbell is a dynamic little singer and, assisted by Talbot and Phil Silver, they bring a comedy novelty that caused the audience to applaud for several minutes at a time. It takes a mighty good act to stir a crowd to such enthusiasm these days but Morris and Campbell achieve this result.

Muriel Morgan and Van D. Sheldon offer a comedy song and dance skit entitled "A Dash of Red" that also won much favor.

To many people an Italian harp is the sweetest of all musical instruments and George Lyons, harp virtuoso, takes this instrument and plays some beautiful music.

The opening act is unusually good, a wire-walking act offered by Harry and Mary Scramton.

Norma Shearer is back again in "A Lady of Chance." This picture brings the popular star in a role of "a good little bad girl" and it is excellent screen entertainment.

—PAUL STEVENSON.

Coming to Erlanger.

The Erlanger theater management announces a most noteworthy production for three nights and matinee, starting Thursday of this week, when the eminent emotional actress, Mrs. Leslie Carter, will be seen for the first time in this city in her latest and greatest success, "The Shanghai Gesture." Even those who may have witnessed the play in other states where it was played by another actress should not miss seeing the original in the role of "Mother Goddard," for Mrs. Carter not only originated this character on the stage but she helped John Colton, the author of "Rain," create it in written form.

Loew's Grand.

One of the spookiest and creepiest of the spooky and creepy pictures, "The Terror," is back in Atlanta this week at Loew's Grand theater and opened a three-day engagement there Monday. In many respects this thriller "out-thrills" them all and it certainly will bring the chills and horror to the most hard-boiled movie fan. May McAvoy with Louise Fazenda and Alec Francis provide in addition to the thrills a lot of clean-cut comedy. This is a crook melodrama produced by Warner Brothers and for those who like the spooky kind it is a masterpiece.

Empire.

One of the classic pictures of all time, "The Wedding March," latest and finest screen vehicle of the noted actor and director, Erich von Stroheim, is to be seen for the last time today at the Empire theater following opening Monday to capacity audiences at the Empire, who pronounced the picture one of the best to be shown at that house in many months. The picture positively will show for the last time today.

Cameo.

In "Yellow Contraband," showing at the Cameo today, Leo Maloney portrays a dual role in which he is seen as the conventional cowman and as a dope smuggler. The former characterization is similar to the parts for which Maloney is famous the world over, while the dope runner is an unusual part for him and one which serves to show his versatility and ability as an all-around actor.

SLAP-STICK TURN WINS GREAT HAND AT KEITH'S GEORGIA

Anyone laboring under the delusion that plain, unvarnished slapstick comedy no longer can bring laughs from theater audiences will have some mental readjusting to do if he visits Keith's Georgia this week and looks and listens as Willie West McGinty and associates "park" em in the aisles with just that type of humor.

Mr. West and two helpers stage a broad burlesque of the efforts of three craftsmen in an attempt to build a house. It is nothing but slapstick of the most elemental kind, with only the custard pie missing, but it holds the boards for several minutes in the midst of a ceaseless fanfare of guffaws.

Spencer and Williams, old-time favorites—how old is illustrated by the fact their daughter now is working with them—provide several minutes of smart-cracking comedy. Spencer's "line" is the unconventional, talk-to-the-audience style and it gets by as it always will if properly done.

The variety bill is rounded out by "Artisan Art" and "The Little Noddy," which is a comedy sketch. "Conquest" is another matter-movie and offers an opportunity for H. B. Warner and Tully Marshall to do some good acting and a chance for Monte Blue to do some that is not so good. Lois Wilson looks sweet and trustful and talks rather nicely. As for the story it has the virtue of possessing a little different background, that of an anarctic expedition, and their "times" are the "times" of the "times."

CAST OF STARS SCORE IN "TALKIE" AT METROPOLITAN

Bringing some of the best stars of the screen back to Atlanta, the Metropolitan feature picture, "The Little Noddy," a Vitaphone all-talking picture, starring George Fawcett, Robert Edeson, Audrey Ferris and Doris Dawson, is one of the most entertaining pictures shown at the Metropolitan in the last few months.

The picture deals with two girls, one rather sedate and the other a "little wildcat" and one can readily imagine the romance, drama and comedy created by these girls when they find that they want the same man.

From start to finish the Monday audience found plenty of thrills and laughs in "The Little Noddy." The program also includes a Mack Sennett comedy, "Campus," with Daphne Pollard and Johnny Burke, and scenes showing the Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech invading the studios of Hollywood, guested by Alice White, sponsor of the Tournament of Roses game. An interesting reel of Fox Movietone concludes the well-rounded out program. —S. C.

Former Alabama

Star Scintillates

In Rialto Picture

A performance smacking of the same dramatic brilliance that made him one of the football idols of the nation several years ago is given by John Mack Brown, erstwhile University of Alabama gridiron star, in the Rialto theater's current synchronized feature presentation.

The movie was actually filmed on the grounds of the United States naval academy at Annapolis, and the story is from the pen of one of the academy's best writers, the excellent local. The author is Royal S. Pease, instructor in English at the academy. "Annapolis" is an appealing story of the love of two midshipmen for a girl, and the girl's natural rejection of one of the suitors, causing a break in the friendship of the midshipmen. One of the pleasures, good and bad, he was, was about to be kicked out of the academy in an effort to save his pal from dismissal, but through the generosity of the girl her lover is spared disgrace, and the "real culprit" is given the "gate" from Uncle Sam's training school.

A new and, two Vitaphone attractions—Kramer and Boyle and "X. Cugat and company in a subject, "By the Campfire," complete the bill.

Brilliant "Rigoletto" Opens

LARGE CROWD HEARS SAN CARLO STARS

Macon's Grand Opera Season

Macon, Ga., January 7.—(Special.)—Macon's second annual season of grand opera, presented by the San Carlo Opera company, opened at the city auditorium tonight before an audience of approximately 3,000 people, brilliant and representative of every class of society in the city.

Never has a more appreciative audience enjoyed Verdi's classic "Rigoletto" than that which tonight achieved the almost impossible record of forcing Josephine Lucchese, the Gilda, to sing no less than four encores. Her rendition of the famous "Caro Nome" aria was a delight which will linger long in the memories of Georgia music lovers.

Lucchese is a newcomer to Macon, making her Georgia debut in the performance tonight. She is the possessor of a coloratura soprano unsurpassed in exquisite purity of tone and a stage presence of rare charm.

Demand for Seats. Mario Valle in the title role repeated his triumph in the same part as last year, while Giuseppe Barotti was a dashing Duke of Mantua, singing his "Woman Is Fickle" song with a verve and spirit that brought irresistible grins to the lips of all hearers.

Armand Sjurvik, another newcomer, won personal laurels by his singing of "La Boheme" Tuesday.

An exquisite addition to the production this year was the ballet and incidental dances presented by the Gavrilov ballet.

The program Tuesday night will be "La Boheme" with "Martha" Wednesday matinee; "The Force of Destiny," Wednesday night; "Romeo and Juliet," Thursday night; "Il Trovatore," Friday night; "Tales of Hoffman," Saturday matinee, and "Lucia di Lammermoor," Saturday night.

Among the individual stars who are to appear during the week are Tina Paggi, coloratura soprano; Bertini, Myra Sharlow, Bianca Saroya, Dimitri Onofrei, Stella De Mette, Bernice Schaller, Francesco Curi, Joseph Royer, Giuseppe Terranova, Henri Scott, Natalie Cervi and others.

President R. L. McKenney, of the Macon Grand Opera association, expressed himself as delighted with the opening performance tonight, both artistically and with the size of the crowd.

"In view of the recent flu anxiety, it was a particularly gratifying attendance," he stated.

Who are the people this new car will attract?

A NEW CAR is coming. Not a new make of car. But an essentially brand new edition of one of America's best sellers. It is a six. It has bodies by Fisher. It is bringing new luxury, new beauty and new performance to its price field.

That much is fact. But now let's see. Who are the people this great new car will attract?

Most typical Americans of today are progressive. Years ago, they hustled the horsehair sofa off to the attic to make way for newer, more modern furniture. Today they are demanding more beauty, more luxury and finer performance than ever in their automobiles. Some of them have reached the point of owning two or more cars. Most of them have not. But they're all getting ahead. They all love fine things. These are the people this new car will attract.

The Oakland Motor Car Company has been building the Pontiac Six for this progressive group during the past three years. And so it knows a lot about them. And with this knowledge, Oakland has created a new car especially for them—not merely a refinement of an earlier model, but a brand new car from beginning to end. It brings new standards of style to its price field.

It provides the luxury and beauty of entirely new bodies by Fisher. It offers them performance they can tell their friends about. It will enable them to make a long step up the ladder of motor car quality with only a slight increase in investment.

You will appreciate the incomparable value of this car. Watch for the

Stubborn Cough Quickly Ended by Famous Recipe

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that usually follow the flu.

From any drugist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it. Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germy phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

PETER HAS A BAD NIGHT.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

The best of plans may go askew. They have for me; they will for you. —Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit was in high spirits when he reached the Green Forest. A full stomach will put almost anyone in high spirits. Peter was most anxious to find his big cousin, Jumper the Hare, and tell him about the good things he found in Farmer Brown's barn and how that barn could be entered through a little swinging door. He rather hoped that Jumper would go over there with him.

But it was a long time before he found his cousin, Jumper the Hare. In fact, Peter was quite tired out when at last he saw Jumper in his white coat, hopping along down the Crooked Little Path. Peter felt a little pang of envy. He always does when he sees that white coat of Jumper's. "I would dare do anything if I had a white coat like that," thought Peter.

Somewhat, it seemed to Peter that Jumper wasn't particularly glad to see him. As a matter of fact, Jumper wasn't. He felt that Peter didn't really belong over there in the Green Forest. When food is scarce, company isn't welcome. But Jumper was polite and stopped to talk a bit. Peter poured out the story of the great least he had had the night before at Farmer Brown's barn. "Come up with me tonight," invited Peter. "It is perfectly safe. We can go up along the Old Stonewall beside the Old Orchard, and then it will be only a short run over to the little door in Farmer Brown's barn."

"Thank you, Peter," replied Jumper. "It is very kind of you to invite me to go with you, but I'll stay in the Green Forest. There are dangers enough here without going outside to look for more. You can take such chances if you want to, but as for me, I'll stay where I belong and make the best of things. Now I must be going along. Good-bye, Peter."

Peter was disappointed and at the same time he was a little provoked. "Oh, well," said he, "if he doesn't want to go with me, he needn't. I'll never again take the trouble to tell him about a good thing. He's afraid that's what's the matter with him. But I'm not afraid. I'm going over to Farmer Brown's barn tonight just as soon as it is dark enough, and then I'll have another feast."

Peter worked his way up to the Old Orchard. There he sat beside one of his favorite holes in the Old Stonewall. He always felt perfectly safe there. He was waiting for night, when all would be quiet around Farmer Brown's house and dooryard. Then he would slip over there and enter the barn by pushing open the little swinging door that had been provided for Black Pussy the Cat. It was the

Sunday Ball Permit Again Is Postponed

Boston City Council Also Refuses to Elect President Until Bribery Is Probed.

Boston, January 7.—(AP)—The Boston city council postponed at its meeting late today the election of its 1929 president and imposed further delays in the way of granting a permit to Boston National league baseball club to play Sunday baseball in this city. Its action was taken after another attack on Emil Fuchs, president of the Braves, whose charges of attempted extortion by city council members in connection with ratification of Sunday sports law are being investigated by the finance commission and by Attorney General Joseph E. Warner.

Councilman William G. Lynch, named by Fuchs as the man who sought from him bribes of $5,000 apiece for himself and 12 other councilmen to vote for Sunday sports, was to have been nominated for the council presidency today by colleagues, in a vote of 18 to 4. The council probably will not meet until next Monday.

An order introduced by Councilman John F. Dowd, calling for the appointment of a committee of five to consider regulations governing the granting of Sunday baseball permits was adopted unanimously. On introducing the order Dowd declared: "We have a right to tell these gentlemen outside of Boston, who come here thinking Boston is a hick town and they can get away with anything, how much they shall charge us."

"I will go down to political defeat before I'll let Fuchs, the liar, or Adams, the narrow-minded hypocrite, blackmail or coerce a Dowd into giving them that permit."

"Tomorrow, the finance commission will resume its hearings on the bribe charges and counter charges brought by those accused."

Daytona Beach, Fla., January 7.—(AP)—J. M. White, of Philadelphia, builder and owner of the Triplex, tri-motored automobile in which Ray Keck last year set a world's speed record, stated in a telegram to friends here today that he is considering entering the car against Major H. O. D. Segrave in the March speed trials here.

White's telegram said he will attend a conference in New York city tomorrow with representatives of the American Automobile Association and that his decision whether to compete in the trials hinged on results of the conference.

Babe and Jack Both Swing Into Action Again and Old Ballyhoo Starts—Ruth Likes Competition, Even at Handball.

BY ALAN J. GOULD

New York, January 7.—(AP)—It's easy to stir up the good old ballyhoo when a brace of fighters like Dempsey and Ruth swing into action.

The old man mauler may just be taking a little trip across the country, but he is interviewed at all way stations and obliging enough to give each and every interviewer something a little different to write about.

"Doc does the talking: I do the fighting." That was Dempsey's customary remark in the old days of his partnership with Kearns. It may or may not be significant, but he has been less successful in the ring since he started to do a good share of the talking as well as the occasional fighting.

Ruth in Training.
Babe Ruth needs only to make a few motions in a gymnasium to start the baseball campaign rolling. There is something of the grand manner about everything the Babe does. His annual war on the famous waistline becomes a matter of national interest. What the tape measure or the scales reveal about Ruth becomes of moment and sometimes concern until the first echoes of batting practice drift forth.

After three days of strenuous gym work, Ruth remarked to all and sundry that he felt like an 18-year-old kid, and issued a sweeping challenge for anyone to meet him at handball. Matter what he happens to be doing—eating, playing poker, shooting ducks, hitting more runs or doing gym work—the Babe likes competition.

Both Like Jokes.
What is the secret of the astonishing popularity of Ruth and Dempsey? Perhaps to a variety of reasons, but it seems mostly due to the fact that neither has lost his naturalness of spirit, or his real enthusiasm for competition. Both like to joke and joke and take life as it comes along. Ruth has never laid claim to being anything but a slugger and ball player. Except for minor interest in golf, poker and shooting, the Babe doesn't talk about much else besides baseball. Nor has a change in fortunes changed Dempsey from the old care-free, good-natured spirit of the ring game.

The drama, silent and otherwise, has set himself up as an artist or thinker or student of literature. Both naturally prefer the things that have made them famous and both probably will retain their natural hold on popular imagination until they pass completely out of the competitive picture.

Neale May Return As Virginia Coach
Charlottesville, Va., January 7.—(AP)—Earle Neale, for six years head coach at the University of Virginia, who becomes head coach of the St. Louis Cardinals next season, may also direct the Cavaliers again in 1929, despite his resignation.

This became known yesterday, when the athletic council decided to consider a plan suggested by Neale whereby his assistants would act in his stead until the baseball season was over, when he would take up the task before the first game is played.

Wages Stars As Engineers Repel Gators

Tornado Leads 17 to 10 at Half and Increases Margin Toward Close.

BY HERB CLARK

Georgia Tech's cage squad, led by a chubby, fighting little guard who amassed 14 points to earn high point honors and played a nice game at his own position, took the scalp of Florida's Gators by a 36-19 count in the first game of their series at the Flats Monday afternoon.

The Jackets showed enough stuff in all departments of the game to rise several points in the estimation of those of the spectators who had witnessed a 35-19 count in the same court, in which Josh Cody's squad from Clemson was downed.

Guard Is Close.
The Jackets Monday were a smooth-passing, close-guarding outfit which was covering the floor with plenty of speed. The Tech players were working with a precision which was pleasing to the eye, and they were being made to count for points, which is much more than the Gators could do.

The Jackets' scorers were not taking their shots until the odds for success were with them, and when the ball finally sailed for the ring, it passed through the net before again touching the floor. And while this was going on, an air-tight five-man defense was forcing the Gator sharpshooters to shoot from the outside.

Jackets Hold Lead.
Tech took the lead shortly after the half hour mark and followed with pretty short effort. Florida was never able to cut the Jackets' lead below two points, and at the half the Jackets held a 17-10 advantage.

Florida came back in the second period to start a furious attack which would have piled up points had it not been for the great defensive work of Sid Goldin, who stopped the thrusts of the Gators before any damage had been done. The Jackets' guard was taking the tries off the backboard and shooting them short passes with unerring accuracy.

Wages showed the way to his mates in this frame, playing an important part in the Jackets' success, and adding eight points to his own total. Wilson and Coker, Tech forwards, also played good games, scoring seven and six points apiece and doing their bit in the passing and defensive ends of the game.

Waters Shows Well.
For the Floridians, Waters, rangy and fast guard, looked like a leader. Clark, center; Ely, forward; and Van Sickle, guard, were other Gator stars. The big football player, though he was unable to ring up any points from the field, was the big noise in the Gator lines work while he was in the game.

The game was fast throughout, though slowed somewhat by a few miscues in the floor work of both quintets. The close guarding exhibition put on by each squad led to the calling of many personal fouls, but no player committed the four necessary to eject him from the contest.

The teams will meet in another game tonight on the Jackets' court at 8:30. The Techsters will be out to duplicate Georgia's feat of chalking up a double win over the Gators, while the Floridians, with a zero in their victory column, should put up a real right.

Beach Is Grieved At Death of Pal

Sebring, Fla., January 7.—(AP)—Tex Beach, the author, who was prospecting for gold with Tex Rickard in the Klondike rush, recalled his friend tonight as a "fine, straight-shooting fellow."

"It just doesn't seem possible that Tex can be dead," Beach said. "My wife and I are grief-stricken to learn of his passing."

"Tex was a man in whom I had implicit confidence, and I was proud to call him friend."

"Perhaps his greatest work in the world was the least known. Tex Rickard probably has given aid to more men and women who were 'down and out' than any other man."

"I first met Tex at a little mining camp out from Dawson. That was in 1898."

"Tex pulled out of the mining camp ahead of me, up in the Klondike. He went to Nome to cast his lot and seek a fortune. It was said he had just $21 in the world. To show that his promotional ability was realized early in life Tex ran his $21 into a fortune, as it would have been called in those days, and became sole owner of a big business in Nome. Three months after he landed there he sold a quarter interest in the business for $21,000."

"I knew him in those days when Tex made and spent, or lost, fortunes one after the other. Throughout it all he has been the same square-shooting fellow."

Girl Swimmer Is Proving Star
Chicago, January 7.—(United News.)—Now that Ethel Lackie, the leader of the girl sprint swimmers, has retired, the inevitable question arises: who will take her place? The answer, of course, seems to be "no one," but there is news from the Illinois Women's Athletic club which indicates that before the year is over, 15-year-old Mary Lou Quinn may step into many of the championships held by Miss Lackie last year.

According to Lillian Reilly, the club coach, Mary Lou, during the past few months, has come forward so rapidly that she appears to be the best prospect for filling Lackie's place.

Yankees Need One Infielder For 1929 Race

Huggins Alone Knows Who He Will Use at Third Base and He Is Not Telling.

BY BRIAN BELL

New York, January 7.—(AP)—Miller Huggins, mite manager of the world champion N. Y. Yankees, may know who will play third base for him next season—no one else does. Huggins apparently is more interested at the moment on keeping a golf ball on the confines of St. Petersburg greens.

Joe Dugan, who has played third base for the Yankees in five world series, will not be among those present when "Hug" calls the roll at St. Pete. To replace "Jumping Joe," on the face of available returns, the little strategist has Gene Robertson, who played 70 games at the position last year; Mark Koenig, if another shortstop is developed in the spring.

Leo Durocher can play shortstop and Lyn Lary comes well recommended from Oakland but has yet to earn his big league spurs.

When Manager Huggins is conceded only one infield problem it is assumed that Tony Lazzeri will be himself again at second base. He was troubled with a bad shoulder last year. If the injury should persist Durocher would have to be thrown into the second base opening.

There will be no argument at first base with Lou Gehrig playing the bag and pounding out home runs and George Burns in reserve to fill his doubles.

There will be no outfield revision. Babe Ruth, Earle Combs and Bob Meusel are intact and the two substitutes of last year, Ben Paschal and Cedric Durst again will stand and wait.

Benny Bengough, John Grabowski and Bill Dickey will be the club's trio of catchers unless Arndt Jorgens, an Oklahoma City recruit, can fight his way in.

Pitchers include five left-handers, Herb Pennock, Tom Zachary and Fred Heimerich are holdovers and Ed Wells, former major leaguer, but later of Birmingham, and Lee Cravens, another Oklahoma City product, are additions.

Waite Hoyt, George Pipgras, Henry Johnson, Myles Thomas and Al Sheely are other veterans who will be back.

Gordon Rhodes, Hollywood; Fay Thomas, Oklahoma City; Roy Sherry, Montreal; and Floyd Van Pelt, Montgomery, will make bids.

SANDLOTTER TO RAJAH Rogers Hornsby's Own Story On His Rise To Fame.

BY ROGERS HORNSBY

Rogers Hornsby is one of baseball's famous figures. Next season he will be seen in a Chicago Cubs uniform, at second base. His salary, it is said, will exceed $50,000 a year. Hornsby writes here, for the first time, his own story of his remarkable climb from the sandlots to big league stardom. The story following is the second of the series.

BY ROGERS HORNSBY.
Written exclusively for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)
Opportunity to play real baseball came to me before I had finished school in Fort Worth, Texas. That was about five or six years after my mother had made my first baseball suit, when I was playing with small boys on vacant lots.

By this time I had lengthened into a tall boy of fifteen, and during the summer vacation I had found a job so I could earn some money and help my mother. My father was dead.

I was working at the Fort Worth stockyards. My job was to check in cars that arrived loaded with live stock and to check out cars loaded with meat products. I liked the work, and I suppose that if I hadn't gone into baseball I would have wound up either with the railroad or the packing house.

Packing House Team.
The packing house where I worked had a team that played every Saturday afternoon, and I went out to practice with the team, although I then weighed only 120. No one paid any attention to me, and about all I was allowed to do was to shoot balls in the outfield.

However, one day I was permitted to go to shortstop during practice, and the fellows saw I could handle a ground ball and throw pretty well. I had played shortstop most of the time with the kids, though like all youngsters I started out as a pitcher. I had played every position in the infield and outfield in those kid games, so when I went out with the packing house team the fellows saw I knew something about the game.

Days on the Bench.
It was a long time, though, before I did anything but sit on the bench. Finally one of the men failed to appear, and the captain was up against it. He scowled at me.

"Kid, play short today," he ordered, and I jumped at the chance.

I wasn't any sensation, but I got along well enough to keep the job the rest of the summer. It was my experience there which stirred my ambition to be a big league ball player.

It was just then that Ty Cobb was going at his best, and the papers were filled with the great things he was doing in the American league. I read everything I could find about him. He became my hero and my ideal.

I said nothing to anyone about my ambitions. The big leagues seemed a long way off. I wondered if I ever would get into the big show. I knew I had to get bigger and stronger. I knew that Cobb and Hans Wagner and Larry Lajoie were heroes because they could hit. I knew I had to learn to be a hitter, and although I said nothing to a soul about it I began right then to study hitting.

Big Brother Appears.
Fortunately for me I had a big brother who was a ball player. He was a pitcher good enough to hold a job for many seasons with Houston, Waco and Dallas, in the Texas league. His name was Everett, but everybody called him "Pep." He threw the spitball, and was a winner.

When he came home after the 1914 season he seemed to realize for the first time that I no longer was a little boy.

"Kid, they tell me you're getting to be quite a ball player," he said. "I'll look you over in your next game."

He came out the following Saturday. I handled every fielding chance perfectly. I got a couple of hits. I was elated. I knew "Pep" was watching me. When the game ended I joined him eagerly.

"Well, kid, you've got a lot to learn, but keep on hustling," was all he had to say, and my dreams almost faded away.

Nurmi Declares He Is Not Ready as Yet to Announce His Track Schedule.

New York, January 7.—(AP)—Paavo Nurmi, most famous of Finland's great array of distance runners, was granted registration as an amateur athlete by the Metropolitan association of the Amateur Athletic union today.

Appearing in person at association headquarters Nurmi announced he intended to remain in the United States for at least a year and took occasion to deny emphatically that he had any intention of turning professional.

Nurmi, a draftsman for a Finnish automobile firm, said his visit to this country was primarily for study of American automobile methods. Although he plans an active track campaign the "Phantom Finn" said he was not "ready to announce his athletic program."

He will compete unattached during his stay here, representing no club.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,

Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, January 7.—(AP)—As the cold weather damage threatening much United States winter wheat may equal the disaster witnessed last year went along with considerably higher prices today. Reports in particular from Wayne and White counties, Illinois, said indications there pointed to harvest already on a par with that suffered from similar conditions in 1928.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm 3-4 1/2c to 1 1/2c net higher. Corn finished at a shade to 3-8c down, oats a shade to 1-8c advance, and provisions varying from 5c decline to a parallel gain.

Wheat values displayed an upward trend from the outset, and the close was at virtually the day's top level. In addition to sub-zero temperatures in various sections where domestic winter wheat has little or no protective covering, unlooked for upturns today of wheat prices at Liverpool tended to lift values here, and on likewise did word of more than 1,000,000 bushels reduction of the amount of wheat on ocean passage, as well as 652,000 bushels decrease of the United States visible supply. There were also estimates current that world disappearance of wheat since July 1 is 10,000,000 bushels in excess of the corresponding total a year ago.

Foreign buying today of future deliveries of wheat here attracted notice also, and talk was heard that the Canadian growers' pool in the United States wheat to Europe at the existing price level.

In the corn market, liberal receipts from the fact that shipping demands were light tended to check buying. There was also a 1,707,000 bushels decrease of the corn visible supply. On the other hand, some corn export business was done, including Omaha sales via Halifax. Need of moisture for the corn crop in Argentina continued, but with immediate rains the losses it was reported would not be large. Some sympathy with wheat rather than with corn.

Provisions were slightly firmer owing to strength of hog values.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

WHEN THE PRELIMINARY PEACE AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND SPAIN WAS SIGNED, AUGUST 12, 1898, DEWEY'S SQUADRON AND MERRITT'S ARMY, HOLDING MANILA BAY AND CAVITE IN THE DISTANT PHILIPPINES, WERE PRE-PARING TO ATTACK THE CITY OF MANILA.

DUE TO THE FACT THAT THE TELEGRAPH CABLES
HAD BEEN CUT, MAKING IT NECESSARY TO RELY ON CABLEGRAMS FROM HONOLULU BY BOAT TO THE PHILIPPINES, THE ORDERS DIRECTING A CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES DID NOT REACH MANILA UNTIL AFTER THE CITY HAD FALLEN INTO THE HANDS OF THE AMERICANS. A LITTLE AFTER 8 O'CLOCK ON AUGUST 13, ADMIRAL DEWEY SENT A MESSAGE TO THE SPANISH CAPTAIN-GENERAL DEMANDING THE SURRENDER OF THE CITY.

The Story of Our War With Spain.

The Americans Attack Manila.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

DEWEY GAVE THE SPANIARDS ONE HOUR IN WHICH TO COMPLY WITH HIS DEMAND AND WHEN THEY FAILED TO CAPITULATE, SIGNALLED THE SHIPS OF HIS SQUADRON TO COMMENCE FIRING.

THE FIRST SHOTS WERE PURPOSELY DROPPED
SHORT OF THEIR MARKS TO WARN THE ENEMY
THAT WE WERE NOT MAKING IDLE THREATS AND TO GIVE HIM A CHANCE TO CHANGE HIS MIND. AS THE SPANIARDS MADE NO SIGN OF YIELDING, THE AMERICAN GUNNERS LENGTHENED THEIR RANGE, AND OUR SHIPS BEGAN FALLING WITHIN THE SPANISH FORTIFICATIONS.

TOMORROW—THE CAPTURE OF MANILA.
